Dedication

The 1984 Giants' Media Guide is dedicated to the memory of running back Doug Kotar, the gallant and courageous Giant who died last December at the age of 32 after a long battle with cancer. A member of the Giants since 1974 when he was obtained in a trade with the Pittsburgh Steelers as a rookie, Doug played eight distinguished seasons with the Giants, concluding his career as the fourth leading rusher in club history with 3,380 yards, ranking behind Alex Webster, Ron Johnson and Frank Gifford. As one of the most versatile and dependable backs in club history, Doug amassed 5,341 yards of total offense in rushing, pass receiving and return yardage...and will be remembered forever for his toughness, loyalty and determination.

A look at the past...

THROUGH THE YEARS

The New York Giants were the hook which held the ragged cloak of professional football's formative years.

The Giants franchise Timothy J. Mara bought in the summer of 1925 helped further pro football in a time when it was in danger of disintegrating for lack of money and public support. Mara held the line in New York. He kept the game alive. His tools were energy, family pride, money and a sure promotional touch. That he did so in a time when the sports headlines belonged to Babe Ruth and Bill Tilden... to Bobby Jones and Jack Dempsey... and to college football was remarkable.

Pro football? Few sports fans in New York had even heard of it, let alone seen it played.

Indeed, the game had much to be modest about in 1925. It was a shaky band of teams that called itself the National Professional Football League—then five years old. Made up of about 20 clubs—month-to-month changes made a hard number unattainable—this clumsy child of a league was manned by former All-America football players, aging Olympic stars, out of work baseball players, part-time cowboys, wrestlers, dock hands, factory workers and anyone else who felt he could play.

Club franchises in those days were bought, sold and moved about like rolling stock. A number of the 1925 teams failed. What little stability the young league had was centered in a combative ex-sailor named George Halas, who owned, coached and played for the Chicago Bears. Within 20 years this man would be known as Papa Bear, and his "cubs" as the fearsome "Monsters of the Midway."

Tim Mara's first contribution to this helter-skelter organization was $2,500, the price of the New York franchise. Some accounts put the figure at $500... that may have been the down payment. The Giants say $2,500.

His second contribution was to draw public attention to pro football. Toward that end, he tried to sign the great Red Grange, the Galloping Ghost from Illinois, but Halas and the Bears beat Mara to the prize. Mara wisely settled for second best—a final game in New York against the Bears, featuring Grange, but in a Bears'—not Giants'—uniform.

Public support for the game was vital to the plucky Irishman's football future. If Mara could fill the Polo Grounds, the Giants' home stadium, he'd break even. If not, New York, as a professional football town, might well have to go the way of Dayton, Rochester and Columbus as league dropouts.

That game against the Bears on December 6, 1925, turned out to be the first miracle of Coogan's Bluff. Archives of the day relate how an estimated crowd of 70,000 fans jammed the Polo Grounds, swarmed over temporary field bleachers, climbed rooftops and literally hung from the rafters in order to catch a glimpse of the fabled Galloping Ghost.

The Bears beat the Giants 19-7, with Grange scoring once on an interception. More important, however, was the enthusiastic reception the game evoked from the press and the fans. They loved the spectacle. That winter, Tim Mara and the other NFL franchise owners drew strength from the belief that professional football, given star players, the proper setting and enough publicity, could become a respectable—and profitable—enterprise.

But neither Mara nor the league were out of the financial woods yet. Spurred by the success of the Giants-Bears game, a promoter known as C. C. (Cash-and-Carry) Pyle, who held the rights to Red Grange's services, organized a rival pro league in 1926 and fielded competing teams in Yankee Stadium, just across from the Polo Grounds, and in Brooklyn's Ebbets Field.

It was a case of too much pro football, too soon, played before too few spectators. Before the 1926 season ended, the rival league folded.

And so, very nearly did the Giants. Dogged by bad weather, poor attendance and higher payrolls as a result of bidding against Pyle for player talent, Mara and the surviving league owners found themselves in dire straits. But they prevailed with worn uniforms, through coach travel on trains, in cheap hotels and with reduced squads; they scraped enough money together to keep their franchises operating through 1927 and 1928.

Keystone for survival were the Giants. As long as Mara could turn out a team in New York, with its many newspaper and radio outlets and its great population, there was hope for professional football.

Mara made his next major contribution to pro football in 1929 when he signed Benny Friedman, Michigan's triple-threat quarterback. Friedman's contract was held by the Detroit Wolverines. In order to sign him, Mara had to buy the Wolverines.

With Friedman in New York and Grange back in the NFL at Chicago, the Giants and the NFL began to jell. Schedules were formalized and followed. Player contracts ran for an entire season, rather than game by game. Newspapers carried accounts of games and league standings.

By now traditional rivalries between the Giants, the Green Bay Packers and the Bears had been firmly established. Excitement generated by the visitors from the midwest was enough to keep the league and its teams solvent through the depression years.

It was from this bleak period that the Giants' influence on the league shifted from personalities to game strategy. In 1931 Mara named Steve Owen head coach—a job Owen had shared with Friedman in 1930. The move had a profound effect, not only on the Giants, but on the game itself. Owen, a massive tackle who had practically filled one side of the Giant line in his playing days, became a coach whose trademark was hard defensive line play and a tenacious pass defense.

So successful were Owen's coaching tactics that they brought the team six divisional titles and two league championships in the 10 years between 1931 and 1941.

Owen is remembered for his famed "umbrella" defense against the pass. It had a six-man defensive line, one linebacker and four defensive backs—the 6-1-4 defense. But as the opponent's pass play developed, the two outside defensive linemen dropped back, instead of rushing the passer, to form a semicircle secondary, resembling the top of an open umbrella. This defense prompted many NFL coaches to adopt the four-man line, but it remained for one of his player-coaches, defensive back Tom Landry, to ultimately refine it (after World War II and under a later Giants' coach, Jim Lee Howell) into the 4-3-4 defense—the dominant defense of the past three decades.

Pro football, however, travels in cycles and in time the opposition solved Owen's defense with new attack patterns. Young, imaginative coaches led by Paul Brown introduced a more open style of play—multiple offenses and the option. Steve Owen's coaching career with the Giants ended in 1953.

His successor was Jim Lee Howell, a soft-spoken giant of a man who had played end for Owen in the years before and after World War II, and who had become the team's first end coach in 1948.

Howell's leadership brought a new structure to the club. A man who believed in delegating authority, he handed the defensive responsibilities to Tom Landry. It was under Howell that Landry perfected the standard 4-3-4 defense that popularized play in the '60s.

1954 was also the year Howell brought into the Giants' organization a man whose impact on the game would become a legend—Vince Lombardi. As Howell's first lieutenant and offensive coach, Lombardi introduced the power sweep with its intricate pulling and trapping linemen and crushing double-team blocks. Lombardi restored the ground game to prominence in pro football.

Eventually, Howell's people would flourish in the NFL. Included were seven former Giants players or coaches who had held or were holding head coaching jobs in the National Football League: the late Vince Lombardi, Green Bay Packers and Washington Redskins; Tom Landry, Dallas Cowboys; Dick Nolan, San Francisco 49ers and New Orleans Saints; Harland Svare, San Diego Chargers; Alex Webster, Giants; Bill Austin, Pittsburgh Steelers and Redskins; and Ed Hughes, Houston Oilers.

Out of the Howell regime, too, came a dozen or more assistant coaches, including Emlen Tunnell, the first black coach in the game. And for what it reveals about the intelligence and versatility of his old crew, a number of broadcasters—Frank Gifford, Kyle Rote, Pat Summerall, Al DeRogatis and Sam Huff. There are sound reasons why the Giants' organization is referred to as Mara Tech.

However you would define the influence of Mara's Giants on pro football—persistence in the face of adversity, timely promotion, pluck, coaching leadership, player ability—it adds up to what the NFL needed most in the early days and what it utilized later in its growth years.

From Polo Grounds to Giants Stadium

HOMES OF THE GIANTS

As the Giants prepare for their 60th NFL season in 1984, the club can look back at several "homes" along the way. From the fabled Polo Grounds in 1925 to Yankee Stadium in 1956 and then the intermediate stops at Yale Bowl in New Haven, 1973-74 and Shea Stadium, 1975, as the team awaited the final construction at Giants Stadium. The following article is reprinted from PRO! magazine on the occasion of Opening Day at Giants Stadium in 1976 and traces previous opening days at both the Polo Grounds and Yankee Stadium.

By ED CROKE

On October 18, 1925, America was in full swing. Bathtub gin was the intoxicating rage, Flappers flapped non-stop, the Roaring Twenties were indeed in full roar and Calvin Coolidge was the President, elected by a landslide margin in 1924, thanks to his worthy feat of reducing the national debt by a tidy $2 billion, and by such popular statements as "There is no right to strike against the public safety by anybody, anywhere, anytime" during his action in a Boston police strike.

October 18, 1925 is also marked by a memorable birthday. On that date, the near-mystical legend of New York Giants Home Football games began in the hallowed Polo Grounds in New York and the proud father was Timothy "Tim" Mara, a fabled New York sportsman who had established a New York franchise in the National Football League some months before.

That famous "first" home opener was neither an artistic or financial success for the new Giants who had embarked on a 12-game schedule on the road. The Frankford Yellow Jackets served as the opposition on that first afternoon in Coogan's Bluff and the Yellow Jackets stung the Giants 14-0 before a sparse crowd indeed. That first Giant team had some famous names of the day... people like Hinkey Haines of Penn State,

Polo Grounds—1925-1955

Century Milstead of Yale, Lynn Bomar of Vanderbilt, Warren Hendrian of Princeton, Art Carney of Navy, Ed McGinley of Penn, Joe Williams of Lafayette, Joe Alexander and Jack McBride of Syracuse, Heine Benkert and Bob Nash of Rutgers and a gentleman named Jim Thorpe, the incredible Carlisle Indian of Olympic and major league baseball fame.

Notwithstanding that opening day home setback, before that 1925 home season was to conclude, the Giants would be a vital part of the single afternoon which proved to the entire country that professional football was here to stay...and to eventually prosper.

As that autumn of 1925 developed, there were interesting things taking place in Chicago. The much heralded Harold "Red" Grange had concluded his spectacular collegiate career at Illinois and was open for offers. And since Grange was on an equal level with such names as Babe Ruth and Jack Dempsey, those offers included glittering business opportunities and even a movie career. Most of his advisors told him the same thing—"stay out of pro football because it's dirty, profane and unprofitable."

Instead, Grange signed a contract with the Chicago Bears to play for them for the remainder of the 1925 schedule and on a post-season barnstorming tour...in exchange for a share of the gate receipts.

Grange made his pro debut on Thanksgiving Day 1925 against the Chicago Cardinals and gained but 36 yards in a scoreless tie. Then, the Bears headed Eastward where on December 6, 1925, pro football achieved that instant acclamation. With the Giants as the opponent at the Polo Grounds, fans mobbed the ticket windows and some 70,000 people watched as the Giants and Bears slugged it out. Not only did that crowd of 70,000-plus set a new all-time record for a professional football game, but also saved Tim Mara from taking a total red-ink bath in that maiden campaign.

Before that massive audience, the Giants played a solid game against the highly regarded Bears as Grange acted as a decoy through most of the game, drawing special coverage and attention as Joe Sternman broke away for a pair of touchdowns that put the Bears in front 13-7. The customers got their money's worth in spades, however, when Grange intercepted a Giant pass late in the game and zipped it back for the final score in a 19-7 victory.

For an historical note, the Giants finished with a record of 8-4 that first year in a 20-team NFL. The Chicago Cardinals, not the Bears, won the title with an 11-2-1 record, with Pottsville (10-2) and Detroit (8-2-2) finishing ahead of the fourth-place Giants.

There is no question whatsoever that the history and tradition of the Giants is linked to the NFL itself, for one might have perished without the other in those early days. That big game on December 6, 1925 was of great importance, not only because the huge crowd created an acceptance of the NFL, nor because the receipts helped assuage a difficult financial season for the Giants. More important, it helped keep the Giants franchise alive thereafter when the new NFL had an immense need for professional representation in the Big Apple.

From 1925 through 1955, the Giants brought fame, glory and outstanding football to the Polo Grounds and to the ever-increasing number of Giants fans. Over that span, the Giants won three World's Championships (1927, 1934, and 1938) and were NFL Eastern Champions nine times (1927, 1933-34-35), 1938-39, 1941, 1944 and 1946).

In 1956, the Giants moved across the Harlem River from the Polo Grounds to the equally famed Yankee Stadium. That last year in the Polo Grounds the Giants had finished barely over .500 with a 6-5-1 record, but the move to the new stadium would act as a panacea for the Giants who were changing buildings with a solid cast of performers—people like Frank Gifford, Alex Webster, Charlie Conerly, Kyle Rote, Emlen Tunnell, Sam Huff, Jimmy Patton, Mel Triplett and a newly acquired defensive end from Los Angeles named Andy Robustelli. This was a growing and improving club which seemed poised to challenge for divisional honors.

As had been the case in 1925 at the Polo Grounds, the Giants opened that 1956 season with three road games, beating the 49ers, 38-21 and the Cleveland Browns 21-9 and losing to St. Louis 35-27 for a 2-1 record.

The first opponent in the first home Giant game at the Yankee Stadium was the Pittsburgh Steelers and the date was October 21, 1956.

As chance would have it, America was again pretty much in full swing. Bathtub Gin was a beverage of the past, the Flappers of 1925 were rapidly attaining grandmother status, the music was no longer Dixieland but Rock 'N Roll and Dwight Eisenhower was the President, having been renominated unanimously on August 22, and was soon to trounce Adlai Stevenson in the November election. "Ike" was a popular hero, called himself a "moderate," favored the "free market system" vs. government price and wage controls and kept government out of labor disputes. And just over two weeks before the Giants and Steelers were to have gone at it on the Yankee Stadium greensward, the Yankees' Don Larsen had hummed a perfect no-hitter against the Dodgers in the World Series.

Yankee Stadium—1956-1973

The Giants, then, seemed primed to be at the top of their game for the Steelers... and for historical purposes, could erase the final verdict of that initial game at the Polo Grounds in 1925.

A crowd of 43,108 turned out for the game, and that was the biggest home opening day crowd in Giants' history to that point. The crowd was in a festive mood as Coach Jim Lee Howell's team hustled onto the field, but the fans had hardly warmed their new seats when the Steelers' Gary Glick booted a 34-yard field goal to put the Steelers on top 3-0.

That was it for the Steelers. And as Louis Effrat of the New York Times wrote the next day, "The Giants needed about 20 minutes to make themselves comfortable in their new home at Yankee Stadium, and once Charlie Conerly started the attack rolling, there was no doubt about the outcome of this NFL encounter with the Pittsburgh Steelers."

With Conerly at the controls and passing sharply, and with Webster and Gifford spearheading a muscular rushing attack, the Giants pulverized the Pittsburghs the remainder of the way and won it easily, 38-10.

It was 17-3 at halftime as Conerly, entering the game late in the first period in relief of Don Heinrich, overcame that early Steeler edge by pitching TD passes of 14 yards to Ken MacAfee and 21 yards to Alex Webster and then positioning the club for a 14-yard Ben Agajanian field goal. Conerly continued the onslaught in the second half, hitting Kyle Rote for a 27-yard TD, and then directed two more awesome drives which were culminated by a 1-yard TD dive by Gifford and a 35-yard TD sprint by reserve Gene Filipski. The Steelers got back on the board in the final period when QB Ted Marchibroda threw a 4-yard TD pass to Elbie Nickel.

Conerly finished the afternoon with 14-for-23 for 208 yards and three TDs and was unanimously named the MVP of the game. All told, the offense rolled up 455 yards as Webster, Gifford, Filipowski and Triplett flashed and slashed for 247 yards rushing. The defense was easily the equal of the offense, shutting the Steelers down completely after that opening field goal and limiting the Pittsburgh club to just 10 first downs and 168 yards of total offense. The big names in that defensive gem? The Messrs Robustelli, Huff, Roosevelt Grier, Walt Yowarsky, Tunnell & Co., that's who.

There was ample and proper euphoria after the solid triumph before an adoring crowd, the late Pulitzer Prize winning columnist of the Times Arthur Daley wrote, "The Giants moved to their new home, Yankee Stadium, yesterday and tossed a housewarming party. It was a wing-ding. Neither cocktails nor canapes were served. However, muscular meatballs were attractively displayed and... the crowd enjoyed the festivities. If the Giants can continue the spectacular crowd-pleasing type of football in the future that they played yesterday, they should pack the Stadium week after week. This is quite a football team, folks. That much is unmistakable."

The Scholarly Daley proved to be an astute soothsayer. From that auspicious debut at Yankee Stadium, the Giants continued to roll onward and finished the season with an 8-3-1 record and first-place in the Eastern Conference. Gifford and Webster had big rushing seasons with 819 and 694 yards respectively, and Gifford, who was to be named the NFL's Most Valuable Player, also had 51 pass receptions for another 603 yards. Gifford's versatility in that year was not limited to his impressive rushing and receiving marks. Giff scored 5 touchdowns rushing, 4 more on pass interceptions, and when Agajanian was hurting, the ex-USC All-American kicked 8 extra points and a pair of field goals to finish with 65 total points for the year.

The Giants achieved the total pinnacle that year, crushing the Chicago Bears 47-7 in the NFL Championship game at Yankee Stadium and five players were named to the All-NFL Team—Gifford, Roosevelt Brown, Andy Robustelli, Rosey Grier and Emlen Tunnell.

And now, there is another October upon us in the Bicentennial Year of 1976 and the Giants have taken that Giant Step across the Hudson River, less than seven miles from the Empire State Building, to begin playing in the spectacular new Giants Stadium. The defending NFC Champion Dallas Cowboys supply the opposition this time, and even in the presence of the powerful Cowboys, there is that Giant aura all about this incredible stadium today. Tom Landry coaches the Cowboys, and his heritage is of the Giants, as both a former player and assistant coach. Up in the television booth for CBS-TV handling the play-by-play is Pat Summerall, place-kicking hero of many Giant triumphs, and in the WNEW-Radio booth, Dick Lynch, an alltime Giant defensive back.

Memories are marvelous. Conjure up the names of the great Giant Players—the Hall of Fame members. Founder Tim Mara, Ken Strong, Mel Hein, Ray Flaherty, Cal Hubbard, Roosevelt Brown, Y. A. Tittle, Andy Robustelli, Hugh McElhenny, Joe Guyon, Pete Henry, Jim Thorpe, Arnie Herber, and the late Vince Lombardi, Emlen Tunnell and Steve Owen.

Through it all and right up to this day, the continuing family tradition of the Giants stands out like a beacon. From the commencement of that family ownership and tradition in 1925 with Tim Mara, it has continued unbroken and undaunted down through the decades with Tim's sons, the late John V. Mara who served as President of the club until his death in 1965, and to Wellington T. Mara who has been President since Jack's death, to Tim Mara II, Jack's son, who is now Vice President and Treasurer. When the history of the national Football League is ultimately written, much will have to be devoted to these pioneers, the Maras, the Rooneys of Pittsburgh and Chicago's Halas family as the rock upon which the league was built and prospered.

The Polo Grounds—Yankee Stadium—Giants Stadium, all of it as much a slice of Americana and sports history as any other segment of sports, and for today's opening, is at once a culmination in many respects, and yet another glorious beginning as well.

The Giants Defense in 1960's

HISTORY OF CHAMPIONSHIP GAMES

When the Giants finished 9-7 in the 1981 season and won a wild card entry into the NFL Playoffs, upsetting the Philadelphia Eagles 27-21 in the first round before bowing to the eventual Super Bowl champion San Francisco 49ers in the Divisional championship 38-24, it marked the first time since 1963 that the Giants had been in title contention.

Prior to that time, however, the Giants had appeared in 15 National Football League Championship games, and the following is a reprint from a Giants' Yearbook article in 1965, recounting those previous championship appearances.

If any one yardstick can be utilized to measure the degree of greatness of a club in the National Football League, it should be the pedigree of championship performance. Aside from being the capstone of the crusade by players, coaches and front office, there's nothing as rewarding to a football fan as a title pennant fluttering atop a stadium halyard. It's more than just a piece of lettered bunting. It denotes a sense of superiority, and it is superiority which fires the imagination of any fan, in any sport.

Superiority was synonymous with New York Giants football through five decades.

In a sport which is predicated on strength, speed, courage and cunning, and one in which the balance of power within the league became more apparent annually, the Giants nonetheless hoisted pennants in each decade of existence—the ultimate in reward for the paying clientele, and a testimonial to the dogged determination of the owners, coaches and players to be the best in this most demanding sport of them all.

This succession of successes took wing in 1927—just two years after the late Timothy J. Mara brought professional football to New York—and continued through the 30's, 40's, 50's and 60's. All told, the Giant pennant harvest is now at 15—with the biggest decade being the 1930's when Mara Tech won five Eastern Division championships and two League titles.

The names of the great Giant football players who brought distinction to New York read like a veritable Who's Who in Professional Football. In that first year of existence, 1925, Mr. Mara's club included an aging, but still famous Jim Thorpe; All-Americans Century Milstead of Yale, Lynn Bomar of Vanderbilt, Joe Alexander of Syracuse and Walter Koppish of Columbia, as well as Henry "Hinkey" Haines, a little Penn State back who immediately became the darling of New York fans. In 1927, when the Giants won their first championship with a 13-7 win over the Chicago Bears at the Polo Grounds, the leaders were tackle Steve Owen, Cal Hubbard, Red Badgro, Indian Joe Guyon and Tut Imlay. This rugged crew posted a record of 11-4 including 11 shutouts and only 20 points allowed to the opposition—a record which still stands.

In 1933, when the NFL first used the divisional system, the Giants won the Eastern title, then bowed to the Bears 23-21 in the league championship. A year later, both clubs repeated as divisional kingpins, and the Giants scored a smashing 30-13 league title win in the famous "sneakers" game at the Polo Grounds, with the leaders in these two campaigns including such famous names as Ken Strong, Ed Danowski, Harry Newman, Mel Hein and others. Later in the 30's, it was Ward Cuff, Jim Lee Howell, Jim Poole, Johnny Dell Isola, Tuffy Leemans and Hank Soar—in the 40's, Len Younce, Al Blozis, Dewitt "Tex" Coulter, Frank Filchock, Bill Paschal, Steve Filipowicz—in the 50's, Arnie Weinmeister, Tom Landry, Bill Swiacki, Eddie Price, Em Tunnell, Charlie Conerly, Kyle Rote, Al Derogatis, Frank Gifford, and in the 1960's—Webster, Robustelli, Stroud, Brown, Katkavage, Tittle, Shofner, Modzelewski, Patton, and many, many others.

But for now, history continues to be the topic, so let's take the pause that refreshes, and take a look at the Giants' Championship Game history, circa 1927-1964—

1927 GIANTS 13, Chicago Bears 7

Led by Steve Owen, the Giants finished with an 11-1-1 record, then stunned Red Grange, John Driscoll and the Bears 13-7 at the Polo Grounds. "It was the toughest, roughest football game I ever played in" Owen was later to say. With the score tied 7-7, the Bears drove to the Giants' one-yard line, but Owen and Cal Hubbard spearheaded a goal line defense which held the Windy City crew. Hinkey Haines then faked a punt from his own end zone and completed a pass to Charlie Corgan for a 58-yard gain which set up the winning score and elation for Tim Mara.

1933 Chicago Bears 23, GIANTS 21

Jack Manders opened the scoring for the Bears at Wrigley Field, Chicago before 26,000 with a 16-yard field goal in the first period to touch off 60 minutes of fireworks which kept fans standing on their chairs through most of the game. Manders kicked a 28-yard FG for a 6-0 lead in the second period before Harry Newman hit Red Badgro for a touchdown pass and a 7-6 Giant lead at the half. Manders' third FG regained the lead for the Bears, but Max Krause's TD and the conversion by Ken Strong put NY back in front 14-9. A pass from Bronko Nagurski to Bill Karr made it 16-14, Chicago, before Strong lateraled to Newman who then threw a TD pass back to Strong for a 21-16 Giant lead late in the game. The Bears bounced back to win, however, when Nagurski's jump pass to Bill Hewitt was lateraled to Karr for the game-winning touchdown.

Ken Strong

Coach Steve Owen

1934 GIANTS 30, Chicago Bears 13

With the temperature at nine degrees and the Polo Grounds covered with a sheet of ice, this one became famous as the "sneakers" game when Steve Owen provided his squad with basketball shoes to open the second half with his club trailing 10-3. The Giants responded with four touchdowns which had a crowd of 35,059 roaring approval. The Bears had a string of 33 games without defeat going into this one, but fell behind 3-0 on a 38-yard FG by Ken Strong. A TD by Nagurski and a field goal by Manders got the Bears in front 10-3 at the half, when Owen sent for the sneakers to take advantage of the slippery footing. Ahead 13-2 on another Manders' FG, the Bears were swamped in a fourth-period Giant uprising which saw Ed Danowski throw a 28-yard TD pass to Ike Frankian and Ken Strong race 42 yards for another TD just moments later for a 17-13 lead. Danowski and Strong raced for subsequent touchdowns against the stunned Bears to turn the game into a rout.

1935 Detroit Lions 26, GIANTS 7

With a crowd of about 15,000 looking on, the Lions took a 13-0 lead in the first period when Leroy "Ace" Gutowsky plunged over from the 2-yard line and Earl "Dutch" Clark shook loose on a 40-yard touchdown romp. The Giants closed the gap at 13-7 in the third period when Danowski connected with Strong for a 42-yard touchdown pass, but the Lions' defense accounted for two more scores in the final period on a blocked punt and intercepted pass. Ernie Caddel scored the first on a 4-yard slant and Buddy Parker the second on a 9-yard run.

1938 GIANTS 23, Green Bay Packers 17

A slam-bang, bruising thriller was staged for the largest crowd (48,120 at the Polo Grounds) to see a championship game up to that time. With the victory, the Giants became the first team to win the championship twice since the divisional splitup. The Giants blocked two punts early in the game, and capitalized on both with Ward Cuff kicking a 13-yard FG and Tuffy Leemans blasting over on a 6-yard plunge. Arnie Herber's 50-yard TD pass to Carl Mulleneaux got the Packers on the scoreboard, but Danowski hit Hap Barnard for a 20-yard TD pass and a 16-7 lead. The Packers closed to 16-14 at halftime on Clark Hinkle's 6-yard TD, then took the lead 17-16 on Engebretsen's third-period FG. New York then stormed back to the Packer 23 from where Danowski passed to Hank Soar for the game-winning TD.

1939 Green Bay Packers 27, GIANTS 0

The Packers came up with sweet revenge in a grudge match played before 32,279 at Milwaukee's State Fair Grounds. Cold weather and a 35-MPH wind made aerial sorties a bit dubious, but Green Bay scored quickly on a 7-yard pitch from Herber to Milt Gantenbein. Engebretsen kicked a 29-yard FG in the third period for a 10-0 lead, and the Packers wrapped it up with touchdowns by Joe Laws on a 20-yard pass from Cecil Isbell, a one-yard plunge by Jankowski and Ernie Smith's 42-yard field goal.

1941 Chicago Bears 37, GIANTS 9

Attendance was only 13,341 at Wrigley Field, just two weeks after Pearl Harbor Day. The Giants led 6-3 in the first period on a Tuffy Leemans to George Franck touchdown pass of 31 yards, but the Bears went in front on a pair of field goals, then broke the game wide open in the second half on touchdowns by Norm Standlee (2), George McAfee and Ken Kavanaugh.

1944 Green Bay 14, GIANTS 7

The Packers took a 14-0 lead at halftime before 46,016 at the Polo Grounds on touchdowns by Ted Fritsch—the first on a 2-yard plunge and the second on a 26-yard pass from Irv Comp with Don Hutson adding the conversions. Ward Cuff scored on a 1-yard plunge on the first play of the final period for the Giants, but the Packers hung on for the triumph.

1946 Chicago Bears 24, GIANTS 14

Sid Luckman was the big man for the Bears in this win before 58,346 at the Polo Grounds. He passed for a 21-yard TD to Ken Kavanaugh to open the scoring, then ran 19 yards for a score later in the game. Dante Magnani's 19-yard pass interception accounted for the third Bear score, while the Giants hit the scoring column on touchdown passes from Frank Filchok to Frank Liebel and Steve Filipowicz.

1956 GIANTS 47, Chicago Bears 7

Fullback Mel Triplett smashed 17 yards for a TD early in the game on an icy field before a big crowd, then Ben Agajanian added a brace of field goals for a 13-0 lead. It was 34-7 at halftime as Alex Webster crashed over for a pair of touchdowns from inside the 5-yard line. Charlie Conerly's aerials brought nothing but more woe to the Bears in the second half, with Kyle Rote snaring a 9-yard TD throw and Frank Gifford a 14-yarder to close out the scoring.

1958 Baltimore Colts 23, GIANTS 17

Some people call this the greatest game ever played, and perhaps it was for drama and its sudden-death ending. With a crowd of 64,185 on hand at Yankee Stadium, the Giants led 3-0 on a 36-yard Pat Summerall FG in the first period, with the Colts taking over 14-3 at halftime on scores by Alan Ameche from the 2-yard line and Ray Berry on a 15-yard pitch from Johnny Unitas. The Giants scored in the third period on a 1-yard plunge by Mel Triplett after an 86-yard gainer from Conerly to Rote with Webster picking up Rote's fumble. The Giants went in front 17-14 on Conerly's 15-yard TD throw to Gifford, but the Colts tied it with seven seconds to play on Steve Myrah's 13-yard FG and won in the overtime on Ameche's 1-yard plunge, the 13th play of a Colt drive.

1959 Baltimore Colts 31, GIANTS 16

A sellout crowd of 57,577 was on hand at Baltimore's Municipal Stadium for the big rematch of the divisional champions. The home crowd had plenty to cheer about in the early going as Unitas hit Lenny Moore for a 60-yard TD bomb, but the Giants surged back to stop the Colt offense. With Summerall kicking three field goals (23, 26 and 23 yards), the Giants led 9-7 going into the final period. But the Colts stormed back with a furious final period onslaught as Unitas scored on a 4-yard run, threw a 12-yard TD pass to Richardson and Johnny Sample returned an interception for another score.

1961 Green Bay Packers 37, GIANTS 0

With a crowd of 39,029 looking on in Green Bay, Paul Hornung paced the Packers to a stunning 37-0 triumph by scoring 19 points on a touchdown, three field goals and four conversions. On leave from his Army duties in Fort Riley, Kan., Hornung scored on a 6-yard slant in the second period to break a scoreless deadlock and set off a Packer splurge which accounted for 24 points in that quarter. The Giants were unable to recover from this onslaught and suffered their first shutout in nine seasons. Bart Starr's touchdown pass to Ron Kramer and a pair of Hornung field goals closed out the scoring in the second half.

1962 Green Bay Packers 16, GIANTS 7

Bitter cold weather at Yankee Stadium was no deterrent to 64,892 fans who turned out for the year's big one. As things turned out, a trio of field goals by Packer guard Jerry Kramer made the difference in a game where both defensive units turned in superlative jobs. The only Giant score was a result of defensive work when Erich Barnes blocked a Max McGee punt and reserve end Jim Collier fell on the ball in the end zone.

1963 Chicago Bears 14, GIANTS 10

The Bear defense turned the tide in this championship game, played in 10 degree weather in Wrigley Field. Taking the early lead on a 14-yard Y.A. Tittle TD pass to Frank Gifford and Don Chandler's FG, the Giants were the victims of five pass interceptions thereafter, two of which set up the Bear scores. Larry Morris swiped the first one for a return of 61 yards, while Ed O'Bradovich's steal of a screen pass set up what turned out to be the winning score. Tittle suffered a knee injury in the first half, but gallantly returned to action in the second half, though he was hampered and hobbled by his injury.

STAFF BIOGRAPHIES

GEORGE YOUNG Vice-President-General Manager

After 11 years of distinguished service with the Baltimore Colts and Miami Dolphins, George Young was named General Manager of the Giants on February 14, 1979. During his tenure with Baltimore and Miami, Young had been closely associated with Don Shula at both franchises and had served in a variety of capacities. He was initially brought into the Colts' organization in 1968 by Shula as an assistant in the Personnel Department, then was named offensive line coach in 1970. That year, the Colts went all the way to the Super Bowl and won that Super Bowl 16-13 over the Dallas Cowboys. In 1971, George became Director of Player Personnel for the Colts and continued in that role until 1973 when new head coach Howard Schnellenberger named him Offensive Coordinator and line coach. In 1974, Young rejoined Shula with the Miami Dolphins in the Personnel Department and at the time he was named by the Giants, was Director of Personnel and Pro Scouting for Miami. His areas of responsibility at Miami included the negotiating of veteran and rookie player contracts, the study and evaluation of all NFL players for trade and waiver acquisitions, the scouting of opponents and the presentation of those scouting reports to the Miami players. He was additionally very active in Miami's college scouting and drafting. Shula had described Young as "an outstanding individual who has been my right hand man." Since joining the Giants, Young has been eminently successful in building the club, achieving the NFL Playoffs in 1981 in his third year of stewardship. From his first five College Drafts, a total of 25 players have made the club, with 16 of those eventually becoming starters, including All-NFL and Pro Bowl starters Mark Haynes and Lawrence Taylor, as well as Phil Simms, Earnest Gray, Bill Neill, Billy Ard, Rich Umphrey and Butch Woolfolk, all of whom were All-NFL Rookie team selections. George Bernard Young was born on September 22, 1930 in Baltimore, Md., and was an outstanding football player at Calvert Hall College H.S. in Baltimore. He went on to Bucknell University where he was a starting defensive tackle for three seasons, team captain in 1951, and was named to the Little All-American first team and All-East first team in his senior year. Selected to play in the Blue-Gray game after his senior year, he was drafted by the Dallas Texans and after playing one season, began a coaching career in the Baltimore school system at City College H.S. Over a span of 15 years, Young's teams won six Maryland State championships, and at one time had an overall 60-11-2 record while winning those State championships. Additionally, Young was an educator while coaching in Baltimore, teaching History and Political Science. While teaching in Baltimore, Young earned two Master's degrees from Johns Hopkins University and Loyola College. George and his wife, Kathryn, reside in Upper Saddle River, N.J.

BILL PARCELLS

Head Coach

Bill Parcells became the 12th Head Coach in New York Giants' history on December 15th 1982, with the announcement by Vice-President and General Manager George Young on the same day that Ray Perkins resigned the position to accept the coaching job at Alabama. Born in Englewood, N.J. on August 22, 1941, Parcells played his scholastic football at River Dell H.S. in Oradell, N.J., then went on to Wichita State University where he was an All-Missouri Valley Conference selection twice as a linebacker. In one game vs. Tulsa University, Bill had 20 solo tackles and six QB sacks, and also played in the Sun Bowl, Blue-Gray and Senior Bowl games. He was drafted No. 7 by the Detroit Lions, but opted for an immediate start in the coaching field by accepting a job at Hastings College in Nebraska. A year later, he returned to Wichita State as an assistant defensive coach, then moved on to West Point where he was an assistant coach for Army for three seasons. He then made subsequent stops as a defensive coordinator for Florida State (three years), Vanderbilt (two seasons) and Texas Tech (three seasons) and was then named Head Coach at the Air Force Academy in 1978. Parcells then accepted a defensive job with the Giants in early 1979, but resigned for personal reasons to enter private business. Then in 1980, he joined the New England Patriots as linebacker's coach, and in 1981 returned to the Giants as defensive coordinator. His presence created almost instant improvement. From a 4-12 record in 1980 when the club allowed 425 points to the opposition, Parcells installed the 3-4 defense, revamped the secondary and produced a defensive team which finished the year ranked No. 3 in the entire NFL after being No. 25 the previous season, reducing the points allowed total from the previously mentioned 425 down to 257. The unit also led the entire NFL in two key categories—lowest average-per-rush (3.4) allowed and lowest average-per-play (4.2) allowed. The Giants finished 9-7, made the playoffs for the second time since 1963, upended Philadelphia in the playoffs with more tough defense before bowing to the eventual Super Bowl champion 49ers. A Giants' fan all of his life while growing up in New Jersey, the 6-3, 220-pound Parcells and his wife, Judy, have three daughters—Suzy, Jill and Dallas—and live in Upper Saddle River, N.J.

HARRY HULMES

Assistant General Manager

Veteran NFL executive joined the Giants this past off-season, replacing Terry Bledsoe. Prior to being named by the Giants, Harry had served as Chief Operating Officer for the Arizona Wranglers of the USFL, but virtually all of his previous experience was within the NFL where he served for 12 years with the Baltimore Colts and 13 years with the New Orleans Saints in a variety of positions. Born on July 20, 1927 in Philadelphia, Harry earned a B.A. degree in journalism and psychology at the University of Pennsylvania, after spending three years in the Navy as a radarman in the South Pacific and Persian Gulf theaters. He began his career in sports with the Baltimore Orioles as assistant business manager, then was the sports information director at Bucknell University before entering the NFL as public relations director of the Colts in 1958. He subsequently served as business manager and general manager of the Colts before moving to the Saints in 1970 as assistant general manager. Until he departed for the Wranglers in 1982, Hulmes also served the Saints as Director of Player Personnel and Vice President of Administration. Also a graduate of Northeast High School in Philadelphia, Harry is married to the former Barbara Lockhart of Mount Holly, N.J. and is the father of two daughters, Linda Ann and Terry Ellen, both graduates of LSU, and a son, Richard Wayne, a senior at LSU.

TOM BOISTURE

Director of Player Personnel

Joined the Giants in the Spring of 1980 from the New England Patriots where he had served for 10 years as a scout, chief scout and in the personnel department. Born on March 23, 1931 in Detroit, Tom played his high school sports at Holy Redeemer H.S. in Detroit, then won three varsity letters as both an offensive and defensive lineman at Mississippi State where he earned a BS degree in Education and History. He began his teaching and coaching career at Austin Catholic H.S. in Detroit where he was head football coach, then continued as a head coach at St. Ambrose H.S. in Detroit. He moved into the collegiate ranks at the University of Houston as an assistant coach for offensive backs, then moved on to Holy Cross College in 1966 as Defensive Coordinator. He was named Head Coach at Holy Cross in 1967 and upset Yale in his first game as a head coach—the only defeat Yale was to suffer in three years. In 1969, Tom moved on to Tulsa University as Defensive Coordinator, and in 1970 moved into the NFL with New England as a scout. Married to the former Dolores Ann Kenney of Detroit. Tom now resides in Woodcliff Lakes, N.J. and has five children—daughters Susan Ann, Deborah Lynn and Nancy Ann, and sons David and Michael. Dave is a quarterback with the New Jersey Generals of the USFL.

JERRY SHAY

Director of College Scouting

Former Giants' tackle Shay was named Chief Scout in 1977 and as such had much to do with the past seven drafts. Jerry joined the Giants' scouting department in 1972 and served as the club's scout in the Western States area, including all of the West Coast as well as in the areas of Wyoming, Montana and the Dakotas. Born in Gary, Ind., the 39-year-old Shay was an All-American star at Purdue University and was the No. 1 draft choice of the Minnesota Vikings in 1966. He was a starting DT for the Vikes for two years, then was traded to the Atlanta Falcons in 1968 where he again starred for two seasons before coming to the Giants in a trade in 1970. Jerry was a key performer that season as the Giants finished 9-5 and missed the playoffs for one game. A year later, he suffered a broken leg and retired after the 1971 season after appearing in only six games, and became a scout the following season. Born on July 10, 1944 (family name Dzedzeji), Jerry is married to the former Cynthia Zajkowski, has three daughters, Tiffany Lee; Shannon Marie; and Jeri Lynn, and resides in San Diego, Calif.

ERNIE ADAMS

Director of Pro Personnel

After serving as an assistant offensive coach for three seasons, Ernie was named Director of Pro Personnel in 1982. Adams had already had a diversified background in both collegiate and professional football in the relatively short span since his graduation from Northwestern University in 1975. Born on March 31, 1953 in Waltham, Mass.,

Ernie graduated from Phillips Academy in Andover, Mass., then matriculated to Northwestern. While at Northwestern, under head coaches Alex Agase and John Pont, Ernie quickly developed his interest in football by assisting the coaching staff as a game scout, as an undergraduate assistant on the freshman football team, and subsequently with the varsity in similar roles, working in all aspects, including on-the-field work with tight ends. Upon graduation, Adams was immediately hired by the New England Patriots and spent four seasons with the Patriots as the Administrative Assistant to Chuck Fairbanks. Included in his duties with the Patriots were all aspects of the football operation, including computer analysis, statistics evaluation and film coordination. As an aide to Ray Perkins, Ernie continued in those capacities with the Giants, as well as in the on-the-field work with the offensive unit.

JIM TRIMBLE

Personnel Consultant

After serving as Director of Pro Personnel for 13 seasons, Jim stepped down from that role in 1982 and will now be a consultant while handling scouting assignments, both in the NFL and CFL, and on the collegiate level as well. Whatever the problems, though, it is likely that Jim has encountered them somewhere along the line during his 40 years in football. His background in the game is not only broad, it is also very successful. He was head coach of the Philadelphia Eagles (1952-56), the Hamilton Tiger Cats (1956-62) and the Montreal Alouettes (1963-65) and rarely was he ever on the losing side. His NFL record with the Eagles was 27-20-2. In Canada, he compiled an overall record of 77-61-2 and was named Coach of the Year in 1961. Additionally, he served in the dual role of head coach and general manager.

D-8C '81

PRO: Since winning the starting LG position late in his rookie season, Ard has now started 31 consecutive games at the position, a distinct accomplishment for an eighth round draft choice. Ard's work during the second half of the 1981 playoff season, particularly a strong effort vs. All-Pro Randy White of the Cowboys in a 13-10 Giants' victory, earned him All-NFL Rookie team honors that year. During this past off-season, Ard worked particularly hard on a weight program and has now built himself up to 270 pounds from his rookie season 255. GAMES PLAYED: 16, STARTED: 16.

COLLEGE: Ard lettered for four seasons at Wake Forest and capped his collegiate career by being named first-team All-American by both the Sporting News and Pro Football Weekly, while also winning first-team All ACC honors and honorable mention All-American by both AP and UPI. Also won the Bill George Award at Wake Forest as the school's MVP lineman. Selected to play in both the Hula Bowl and Senior Bowl after his senior year.

PERSONAL: William Donovan Ard was born on March 12, 1959 in East Orange, N.J., then played his scholastic football at Watchung Hills Regional H.S. in Watchung, N.J. Ard's dad, Bill Sr., has been a Giant's season ticket holder for 20 years, and there were plenty of Ard fans at that 1981 college draft, considering a sign which appeared in the balcony during the selections which read, "Let Ard be your Guard."

Wide Receiver Memphis State 3/2/57
6-3 195 D-2 '79 6th Year

PRO: Gray had his finest season ever in 1983, setting an alltime Giants' one-season record with 78 receptions, a figure which tied him for the NFC pass receiving championship with Roy Green of St. Louis and Charlie Brown of Washington. Gray's mark broke the former Giants' standard of 68, set by Del Shofner in 1961. Along the way, Gray had five games in which he had 100-plus yards receiving, with his top performances coming vs. San Diego (9 for 159 yards), Washington (8 for 145 yards and two TDs), and Kansas City (8 for 111 yards). He also had the longest reception of the year, a 62-yarder vs. the Los Angeles raiders. As a rookie, Earnest averaged 19.2 per catch and made the All-NFL Rookie team, then in 1980 had a big year with 52 catches for 777 yards and 10 touchdowns, and set another alltime club record when he had four TD catches in one game vs. St. Louis. That same year, he also had three TD grabs in a victory over Green Bay. When the Giants made the playoffs in 1981, Gray had another big day in the divisional championship game vs. San Francisco, with three grabs for 118 yards, including a 72-yard TD reception. With 205 career receptions, Earnest now ranks 9th on the Giants' alltime list of receivers. GAMES PLAYED: 16, STARTED: 16.

He also holds the Memphis State alltime record for longest TD reception, 94 yards.

ALI HAJI-SHEIKH

1/11/61

D-9 '83

2nd Year

PRO: Perhaps the best 9th round draft choice in club history, Ali first beat out the incumbent Joe Danelo during the pre-season with deft footwork, including five field goals in a pre-season win over the Steelers, then went on to have a spectacular rookie season, setting an alltime NFL record with 35 field goals, erasing the former mark of 34 set by Jim Turner in 1968. Additionally, the Sheikh set four more alltime Giants' club records... most punts scored in a season (127); most field goals attempted in a season, (42); highest completion percentage in a season (83.3%); and longest field goal, (56 yards, twice.) After missing his first FG attempt in the season opener, Ali then connected on 21 of his next 22 FG attempts, with the only miss being a mammoth 66-yard attempt in the final seconds of a tie game with the Cardinals. He knocked off Atlanta 16-13 in overtime with a 30-yard FG, and had his club record 56-yarders in a pair of Monday Night games against Green Bay and Detroit. In the final two games of the season, he kicked nine FGs, four vs. Seattle and five vs. the Redskins, to surpass Turner's 1968 record. At season's end, he was a unanimous All-NFL and All-NFL Rookie selection and was also voted into the pro Bowl where he booted a FG and six conversions for the winning NFC team.

GAMES PLAYED: 16.

COLLEGE: Haji-Sheikh was a walk-on at Michigan and after being limited to kickoff duties in his freshman year, won the regular place-kicking job in his soph season and went on to post a career mark of 31-of-44 FG attempts and 115-of-118 conversion attempts, both Michigan school records. He had 74 consecutive PATs in his final two seasons, also a school record.

PERSONAL: Ali Haji-Sheikh was born in Ann Arbor, Mich., in the University Medical center where his father, Dr. Ali Haji-Sheikh was earning a Master's degree. Young Ali grew up in Arlington, Tex., and was a star place-kicker in high school there. His father, who also earned a Doctorate degree from the University of Minnesota, is a professor at Texas-Arlington.

Defensive End North Carolina 5/2/56
6-4 274 FA '81 7th Year

PRO: Veteran DE saw extensive service last season—the most since being acquired as a FA late in 1981. All told, Dee played in all 16 games, 13 of them as a starter, and finished with 53 tackles (37 solo, 16 assists) while adding two-and-a-half QB sacks, a fumble recovery, and a forced fumble. A No. 2 draft choice of the Buffalo Bills in 1978, Hardison didn't miss a game in three seasons with the Bills, winning All-NFL Rookie team honors in '78 when he was a starting DE and had 81 tackles and 4½ QB sacks. He was switched to the offensive line after the 1980 season, then released by the Bills, with the Giants signing him as a FA late in that campaign. He did not play in the regular season, but was active in the playoff games vs. Philadelphia and San Francisco. In 1982 he played in six games, chiefly as a reserve DE, before getting more action last year. GAMES PLAYED: 16, STARTED: 13.

COLLEGE: A two-time All-Atlantic Coast defensive lineman, Hardison was an honorable mention All-American as a junior, then made first-team All-American in his senior year from the AP. Also lettered in wrestling at North Carolina in the heavyweight division, despite the fact he had not wrestled in high school.

36MARK HAYNES

Cornerback Colorado 11/6/58
5-11 185 D-1 '80 5th Year

PRO: Stellar cornerback had another strong season in 1983, winning All-NFL honors for the third straight year, and being named to the Pro Bowl for a second consecutive trip, contributing to another NFC victory with an interception. Despite missing the season opener with a minor injury, Mark finished with 74 tackles (58 solo, 16 assists) to lead the secondary in that department for the third straight year, and added three interceptions, two fumble recoveries for four yards returned, and the club lead in pass deflections as well. Haynes also had one of the year's top defensive plays in the Monday Night victory over the Green Bay Packers when on a fourth-and-goal play from the one-yard line, he stopped Gary Lewis cold on an end around just short of the goal line. The No. 1 draft choice in 1980, Mark lost time in his rookie year due to nagging injuries and position adjustment, but when switched to the left corner in his second year, became an almost instant star, winning All-NFL first team honors from Pro Football Weekly, NEA and Sports Illustrated. He followed that up in 1982 with a second straight All-NFL season and was named as a starter in the Pro Bowl for the first time. Scored his only NFL touchdown in the 1981 playoff victory over Philadelphia when he recovered a fumble in the end zone. GAMES PLAYED: 15, STARTED: 15.

COLLEGE: Mark was a unanimous All-American choice at Colorado in his senior season, and was an All-Big 8 selection twice. He won four varsity letters as both a cornerback and safety, concluding his career with 256 tackles, eight fumble recoveries, five interceptions and three blocked kicks. He had a 97-yard interception for a TD vs. Army in 1977 and had 18 tackles in one game vs. Iowa State that same season. 2nd Year

PRO: Andy proved to be a valuable addition as an 8th round draft choice, making a strong impression in pre-season camp, then following that up by racking up three QB sacks against the Jets in his initial pre-season outing, filling in for Lawrence Taylor. During the regular season, he saw frequent action at linebacker and on special teams, and was used extensively at linebacker on pass-rushing situations. He finished the year with 5½ QB sacks for 41½ yards lost to rank second among the linebackers in sacks to Lawrence Taylor. Headen had 28 total tackles (20 solos, 8 assists) to rank behind the starting LBs. Andy also worked hard during the off-season on a weight program and built himself up to 242 from last year's 228 pounds, but didn't lose any of his speed while clocking a 4.5 in the 40 during the mini-camp. GAMES PLAYED: 16, STARTED: 0.

COLLEGE: Headen was a veritable one-man band at Clemson during his four seasons there. An All-American high school quarterback, he won the starting QB job at Clemson as a sophomore, eventually lost the job to Homer Jordan, and then switched to safety and cornerback while doubling as a kickoff return specialist. He finished his career as a standup defensive end and won All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors in his final season. His career stats showed 115 tackles, seven QB traps, two blocked kicks and two pass interceptions.

PRO: Acquired as a FA in March, 1981, Ernie had been a 3rd round draft choice of the San Francisco 49ers in 1978 and was a starting guard that year, making the All-NFL Rookie team. The following year he went down with a knee injury and was out for the entire season, and subsequently released in 1980. When he came to the Giants, Ernie was shifted to a new position—center—and worked hard at learning the trade in the off-season program and during training camp. He turned out to be a quick learner and was the starting center on opening day and for the next 10 games until he suffered another knee injury, late in the second Green Bay game, and was out for the rest of the year. For the past two seasons, Ernie has been a key reserve at center, and moved back into the starting job for the final six games last year after Rich Umphrey went down with an appendectomy. GAMES PLAYED: 12, STARTED: 6.

PRO: Since being drafted on the 9th round, Hunt has appeared in every game for the past three seasons with the Giants as a reserve OLB, as a replacement starter and as a special teams' player, and has performed admirably over that 41-game span. He had five starts last year at OLB when Lawrence Taylor was moved inside for the injured Harry

Carson, and during the course of the year had 46 tackles (26 solo, 20 assists), while adding a QB sack and a blocked PAT vs. the Los Angeles Rams. As a reserve in '82, he was in on 19 tackles with a pair of QB sacks after a rookie year in which he filled in as a starter in the final three regular season and two playoff games, finishing with 67 total tackles, a trio of QB sacks and a big interception vs. Dallas in the season finale which earned the playoff trip. DAVE JENNINGS
St. Lawrence 6/8/52
FA '74 11th Year

PRO: Veteran punter still ranks as one of the club's greatest bargain acquisitions in history, having set virtually every club punting record in his 10 seasons with the club, as well as being an All-NFL selection five times and a four-time Pro Bowl selection, in addition to being an All-NFL Rookie selection back in 1974. He holds alltime club records for most punts, most punting yardage, most punts in a season, most punting yardage in a season, and highest punting average one game (55.3), and led the NFL in punting in 1980 with a 44.8 average. He's second in lifetime punting average and also for the longest punt (73 yards), and also has a consecutive games-played streak of 147, second only to Mel Hein who played 15 seasons with the Giants. This past season, Dave's average was 40.3, but his 29 punts inside the 20-yard line tied him for the lead in the NFC. He had two streaks broken, however, in '83 when he had a punt blocked by the Los Angeles Raiders—the first punt he's had blocked since 1976, and he threw an incomplete pass, which broke his lifetime passing stats of 3-for-3 in previous attempts. GAMES PLAYED: 16.

COLLEGE: Jennings won two varsity letters in basketball at St. Lawrence, and also won the school's punting job as a walk-on, proceeding to win All-Conference honors three times thereafter, while earning a BA degree in Economics.

A third-cousin of Red Sox catcher Carlton Fisk, Jennings is a big Red Sox and Boston Celtics' fan. A bachelor, he resides in Upper Saddle River, N.J. His father, Manson, is a former president of Southern Connecticut State College.

PRO: A 12th round selection last year, Robbie was enjoying a strong pre-season training camp until going down with an injury to his spinal cord which resulted in his going on Injured Reserve for the balance of the campaign. Jones recovered during the season and was able to work out with the club, and showed that he could be a possible successor to the traded Brian Kelley at an inside linebacker position. He's got the size, good speed (4.9) and strength (325 pound bench press) and could be a strong candidate for that starting position. GAMES PLAYED: 0, STARTED: 0.

PRO: Veteran tackle and team offensive captain had a streak of consecutive starts snapped late last season when he fractured a forearm on December 4 vs. St. Louis and was forced to sit out the final two games of the campaign. Prior to that, King had started 45 consecutive games at RT, plus both playoff games in 1981, to put a halt to previous injury problems which had plagued him on and off since his rookie season. He began his career briefly as a guard in 1978, then moved to LT where he started several games before a severe ankle injury put him down. In 1979, he won the starting LT job in training camp, then dislocated an elbow just prior to the season opener and was out of action for eight weeks. Then, in 1980, after being switched to RT, he won that starting spot, but went down again midway through the season before bouncing back to start the final six games which began his consecutive start streak. During the 1981 playoff run, King played superbly, grading out at 100% over the final four games of that season when the Giants were in a "must win" situation. GAMES PLAYED: 14, STARTED: 14.

	2nd Year

PRO: The Giants' No. 1 draft pick last year, Terry was slowed by some nagging injuries in training camp, but then recovered and played strongly in the pre-season, getting a pair of impressive interceptions and returns while alternating at the free safety spot with the veteran Beasley Reece. That situation remained through the early portion of the regular season until Kinard wrestled the starting job from Reece halfway through the year. By season's end, Kinard was a unanimous choice for the All-NFL Rookie teams... had 70 tackles (50 solo, 20 assists)... three interceptions for 49 yards (including a pair in one game vs. Dallas)... a QB sack and a fumble recovery and return of 10 yards. His overall play continued to improve with each and every week. His best game might have been the second game vs. the Cowboys. In addition to his two interceptions on Danny White, Kinard had a third interception negated, and just missed another... added 10 tackles, two more pass deflections and that fumble recovery. GAMES PLAYED: 16, STARTED: 10.

COLLEGE: Kinard was a unanimous All-American choice at Clemson and was additionally named National Defensive Player of the Year by two other polls. He was named to the Hula Bowl and Senior Bowl games after his final season, had an interception in the first mentioned, and was MVP in the latter game. A four-year starter at Clemson, he set the school's alltime records for most tackles by a defensive back (291) and interceptions (17 for 147 yards.)

PERSONAL: Alfred Terance Kinard was born on November 24, 1959 in Bitburg, Germany where his father was serving as an Air Force NCO. He grew up in Sumter, S.C. where he won All-Star honors in both football and basketball. He had several collegiate basketball offers but chose football instead.

90*Wide Receiver*6-0*190*FRANK MAGWOOD*Clemson*7/7/61*D-12A '83*First Year

PRO: Magwood was a 12th round choice last year after being Terry Kinard's roommate at Clemson, and showed some promise during training camp with his good speed and hands, and also saw some action in early pre-season games before going down with an injury that put him on Injured Reserve for the rest of the season. GAMES PLAYED: 0, STARTED: 0.

COLLEGE: Magwood was the leading receiver at Clemson for his final two seasons there on a team which was virtually run-oriented completely. Frank had 17 receptions for 345 yards and a 20.3 average as a junior, with his final career total of receptions being 40 for 786 yards. Had a key catch of a deflected pass which set up a TD in Clemson's Orange Bowl appearance in his junior year.

PERSONAL: Frank Magwood was born on July 7, 1961 in Charleston, S.C. and starred at St. John's High School in John's Island, S.C. as a quarterback. He won All-Conference honors in his senior year when he threw a record 22 TD passes and won MVP honors in the conference as well.

70*Defensive End*6-3*285*LEONARD MARSHALL*Louisiana State 10/22/61*D-2 '83*2nd Year

PRO: The 2nd round draft choice last year, Leonard had his early progress slowed by being overweight in the early stages of pre-season training camp, but once he got down to business and got into shape, he continued to improve in all aspects of the game. He eventually won the starting job at defensive RE for the final six games of the season and played strongly as a starter, registering 27 tackles in those starts, including getting in on one QB sack and registering a safety against the Super Bowl champion Los Angeles Raiders when he tackled QB Jim Plunkett in the end zone. Marshall also had several blocked passes late in the season and was equally as strong against the run. During this past off-season, he was a regular at the workout programs and has added muscle to his frame, while not losing any quickness since he can still motor a 4.9 in the 40. GAMES PLAYED: 14, STARTED: 6.

COLLEGE: A three-year starter at LSU, Leonard showed marked improvement in each of his campaigns in college, leading the Tigers in tackles for losses in both his junior and senior seasons, and also led that highly rated defensive unit in QB sacks in each of those two years.

PERSONAL: Leonard Allen Marshall was born in Franklin, La., on October 22, 1961 and was a powerhouse scholastic player at Franklin High School as a two-way tackle, winning both All-Conference and All-State honors, registering 16 QB sacks in his senior year. GEORGE MARTIN

PRO: Highly versatile and dependable veteran has been the club's top pass-rushing defensive lineman for the past half-dozen seasons. He registered nine QB sacks this past year to share the club lead with LB Lawrence Taylor, and has had 55 QB sacks over the past six seasons, by far the top total of any defensive lineman on the club over that span.

In addition to his pass-rushing abilities, Martin has scored five career touchdowns, the most ever in club history by a defensive lineman. And he's scored those TDs in a variety of methods—a 30-yard interception TD in 1977; an 11-yard return with a lateral after a blocked FG attempt in 1978; a 4-yard TD pass from Phil Simms when George lined up as a TE in 1980; and two fumble returns for TDs in 1981...also a club record for most fumble return TDs in a single season. He even had another TD on an interception return in a pre-season game in 1976. A starter ever since his rookie season when he was an 11th round draft choice, Martin has been a five-time winner of the Byron "Whizzer" White Award for team contribution as voted by his teammates, was elected defensive captain in 1981 and is a former representative on the United Way public service television commercials. He's missed only six games in his career. GAMES PLAYED: 14, STARTED: 4.

COLLEGE: Martin was an Art Education major at Oregon, where he won three varsity letters in football as both a tight end and defensive end, and two varsity letters in basketball as a teammate of NBA star Lonnie Shelton. He had 83 tackles in his senior season, including big days against Michigan and Northwestern. In high school, Martin was Student Body president and was named to the Outstanding Teenagers in America listing.

76Defensive End*6-5*275*CURTIS McGRIFF*Alabama*5/17/58*FA '80*5th Year

PRO: Curtis has been a strong and versatile player over the past four seasons after being a training camp "find" as a free agent in 1980. McGriff made the club as a nose tackle that year, and despite missing several games with injuries, made the All-NFL Rookie team at NT. In 1981, the big man was switched to DE and became a starter there as well because of his powerful defense against the run. In that playoff season, McGriff had 110 tackles (59 solo, 51 assists) to lead all of the defensive linemen, despite missing the final two regular season games and both playoff outings due to a knee injury. In 1982, he was the leading tackler again among the linemen with 42 stops in the nine-game season. 6-4 258 FA '83 6th Year

PRO: Veteran DE came to Giants as a free agent early last season after being released by Green Bay Packers and appeared in 10 games with the Giants as a third-down pass rusher and special teams' player. In that role, he came up with three QB sacks for 26 yards and proved to be a spirited performer when given the opportunity to contribute. Originally a 5th round draft choice of Cincinnati in 1979, he was released by the Bengals in training camp and caught on with the Packers where he played from 1979 through last season. With Green Bay he was an occasional starter at right DE and had seven QB sacks in 1981. PRO: Mike was the 4th round draft choice of the Green Bay Packers in 1983, was released late in training camp, and was then inked by the Giants as a FA. He appeared in 13 games with the Giants as a reserve WR and added a speed dimension to the attack. Though he caught just seven passes, he led the club in average-per-catch with a 24.3

mark, including a 54-yard connection vs. the Dallas Cowboys. Also had one rushing attempt for two yards on a reverse and returned two kickoffs for 31 yards. The fastest player in the squad with 4.3 speed in the 40, Miller was a world class sprinter in college. GAMES PLAYED: 13, STARTED: 0.

JOHN MISTLER

Wide Receiver Arizona State 10/28/58

6-2 190 D-3 '81 4th Year

PRO: Mistler enjoyed his best season in 1983, appearing in all 16 games and finishing with 45 receptions which ranked second to Earnest Gray's record 78 total. The erstwhile Arizona State star has not missed a game in his three years with the Giants and has been a clutch third-down receiver over that span. Had his best outing vs. San Diego when he had eight grabs for 91 yards, and was also a factor with five catches in overtime victory over Atlanta. In 1982, Mistler had a two-touchdown game vs. St. Louis after a rookie season in 1981 when he had any number of clutch catches in key situations as a third-down reserve man. Perhaps his biggest effort that year came in the season finale vs. Dallas when the Giants needed a win to get into the playoffs. Late in the game, on a fourth down and 13 situation, he snared a 22-yarder to keep a drive in motion that set up the knotting FG and forced an overtime, which the Giants won. He followed that up with a diving TD catch in the playoff victory over Philadelphia, then made one of the year's most glittering circus grabs with a one-handed catch vs. the 49ers in the divisional championships. GAMES PLAYED: 16, STARTED: 9.

COLLEGE: Mistler won three varsity letters at Arizona State, and was the PAC 10's leading receiver in his senior year with 53 catches for 673 yards and 11 TDs. His career totals showed 113 catches for 1,533 yards and 21 TDs and he won All-Pac 10 honors his senior year and honorable mention All-American, while also being named to play in the East-West Shrine game. He was also Arizona State's MVP in his senior year, and majored in General Business at ASU.

PERSONAL: John Andrew Mistler was born on October 28, 1958 in Columbia, Mo., and played his scholastic sports at Sahuaro H.S. in Tucson, Ariz., where he was a high school All-American wide receiver. He's married to the former Anne Weisel and lives in Cranbury, N.J. during the off-seasons.

JOE MORRIS

Syracuse 9/15/60
D-2 '82 3rd Year

PRO: Diminutive, but strong, reserve RB came up with a couple of solid performances last season after seeing only sporadic duty in his rookie campaign and could be utilized even more this coming year. Had particularly strong outing in season finale vs. NFC champion Redskins when he rushed 13 times for 69 yards, and added a 6-yard touchdown reception. Also had strong efforts in 23-0 win over Philadelphia and in Monday Night loss at Detroit. Joe also saw some duty as kickoff return man with 14 returns for 255 yards and an 18.2 average. During his rookie year, he scored a touchdown on his very first NFL rushing attempt, a 3-yard score vs. Green Bay, but managed only 48 yards rushing on 15 attempts for the season. He had five receptions vs. St. Louis that same season, but saw only infrequent action. GAMES PLAYED: 15, STARTED: 0.

COLLEGE: Joe set all of the alltime rushing records at Syracuse, erasing the marks of such former greats as Jim Brown, Larry Csonka and Floyd Little by rushing for 4,229 yards in his four seasons. Also set the one-game mark with 252 yards vs. Kansas and had 21 rushing games of 100 or more yards. An All-American choice his senior year, he was selected to play in the Senior Bowl, East-West Shrine and Blue-Gray games.

PERSONAL: Joseph Morris was born in Fort Bragg, N.C. on September 15, 1960 where his dad was a career Army NCO. 84ZEKE MOWATT

Tight End Florida State 3/5/61
6-3 240 FA '83 2nd Year

PRO: Signed as a relatively unknown free agent last year, Zeke took advantage of his opportunities and not only won himself a spot on the roster, but won the starting tight end job, beating out veterans Gary Shirk and Tom Mullady and a 3rd round draft choice in the process. Initially, he caught the attention of the coaches with his ferocious blocking, then improved on his pass-catching, while continuing to block like an offensive tackle. He finished the season with 21 receptions for 280 yards and a 13.3 average, including a 46-yard TD catch against the Dallas Cowboys. Big and strong, Zeke has also done 4.8 in the 40, and had any number of big blocks which sprung backs loose for long gainers last season. GAMES PLAYED: 16, STARTED: 14.

COLLEGE: Mowatt earned three varsity letters as a tight end at Florida State, but was used primarily as a blocker and subsequently did not have the stats as a receiver. He had plenty of toughness and ability, however, and was highly recommended by Florida State coaches.

PERSONAL: Zeke Mowatt was born on March 5, 1961 in Wauchula, Fla., and was a scholastic star in football, basketball and track at Hardee High School in Wauchula.

81*TOM MULLADY

Tight End S.W. at Memphis 1/30/57
6-3 235 FA '79 6th Year

PRO: Signed as a FA by the Giants late in 1979 after being released by the Buffalo Bills where he was a 7th round draft choice, Mullady has played in 59 consecutive games for the Giants as both a starter and reserve TE. Had his best season in 1980 when he shared the position with Gary Shirk, making 28 catches for 391 yards and a pair of TDs, then led the club in receiving in the strike-shortened 1982 season when he had 27 catches as the fulltime starter. Last year, he saw only spot duty and finished with 13 catches for 184 yards, including a TD catch vs. San Diego. In the 1981 playoff season, he had back-to-back TD catches in season finale win over Dallas and in playoff game vs. Philadelphia. GAMES PLAYED: 16, STARTED: 3.

COLLEGE: Mullady played four varsity seasons at Southwestern, with three of those as a starter. He was an All-Conference choice three times, Conference MVP in 1978 and had his jersey retired after his final season after setting alltime school records for receptions (149); yardage (2,152); and for single game standards of 13 receptions in one game and 267 yards in one game. BILL NEILL

Pittsburgh 3/15/59

4th Year

PRO: Injury jinx hit Neill in the season opener in 1983, with another knee injury putting him on the shelf for the remainder of the year. Neill had another strong year in 1982 at the nose position, registering 23 tackles and a brace of QB sacks. Also lost time in pre-season due to knee injury and had off-season arthroscopic surgery to repair that hinge. One of the keys to the outstanding Giants' defense in 1981 was the work of Neill, a 5th round draft choice, who came to training camp as a defensive end candidate... was switched to nose tackle out of necessity, then went on to start all 16 games in the regular season and both playoff games en route to unanimous All-NFL Rookie honors. Strong and instinctive, Neill quickly became highly proficient at that nose position, even though he had never played there before, and concluded the season with 161 tackles (105-56), added six QB sacks and a fumble recovery and got opposing coaches' ratings as one of the top nose tackles in the NFL. GAMES PLAYED: 6, STARTED: 1

COLLEGE: A defensive tackle at Pittsburgh, Neill was a starter for three seasons and earned four varsity letters with the Panthers, capping things off in his senior year by winning All-East first-team honors from the AP and Pro Football Weekly and honorable mention All-American as well. He was team captain in his senior year and finished his career with 190 tackles and 11 QB sacks.

PERSONAL: William M. Neill was born on March 15, 1959 in Norristown, Pa., and was an all-around scholastic star at Perkiomen Valley H.S. in Collegeville, Pa., where he was an All-State football player, the State high school heavyweight wrestling champion, and a fifth-place finisher in the State javelin throw in track. Bill and his wife, Debra Jean, now reside in Bloomfield, N.J. in the off-season with son, Ryan, who was born in December of 1982. Bill is pursuing a career as an electrical engineer—his major course of study at Pittsburgh.

71KARL NELSON*Offensive Tackle Iowa State 6/14/60
6-6 285 D-3A '83 First Year

PRO: A 3rd round draft choice last year, Nelson was showing great protential and continuing improvement in the pre-season training camp and in pre-season games, then suffered a fractured foot and was out for the rest of the season on Injured Reserve. He recovered completely from the foot injury during the season and was able to workout with the club, and continued to show progress. Karl also participated in the off-season work program, and built his weight up from 270 to his present 285. GAMES PLAYED: 0.

COLLEGE: Carl was a four-year starter at tackle for Iowa State, and was named to the first-team All-American team by NEA and to the Associated Press honorable mention All-American team in his senior campaign. He was also an All-Big Eight selection for two seasons and an Academic All-American choice. He concluded his collegiate career by being named to play in the East-West Shrine game.

PERSONAL: Karl Nelson was born in DeKalk, Ill., on June 14, 1960 and won All-State scholastic honors in football at DeKalb High School in his hometown. He also earned letters in basketball and in baseball, as a pitcher. Karl now makes his off-season home in Westwood, N.J.

9TOM OWEN*Quarterback Wichita State 9/1/52
6-1 205 FA '83 11th Year

PRO: Veteran QB same to the Giants as a free agent midway through last season after Phil Simms was lost for the year with a broken thumb and was the No. 3 quarterback for the rest of the year, although he did not see any action. Originally a 13th round draft choice of the San Francisco 49ers in 1974, Tom was the 49ers' starting QB for the second half of that season, finishing with 88 completions for 1,327 yards and 10 touchdowns. Two years later, Owen was traded to New England along with draft choices, for Jim Plunkett and stayed with the Patriots as the backup quarterback through the 1981 season, and along the way proved to be a valuable backup to Steve Grogan, coming on in relief of Grogan to erase a 17-14 Detroit lead in 1979 with 10 fourth period points and a 24-17 victory. Owen was traded to the Redskins in August, 1982 for QB Tom Flick, and was on the active roster all that season, although he did not see any action. GAMES PLAYED: 0.

COLLEGE: Tom was a three-year starter at quarterback for Wichita State and the leader of that club in the aftermath of the tragic air crash which killed most of the school's football team. Owen was on the team the year of the crash, but was not a member of the travel squad as a freshman.

PERSONAL: Willis Thomas Owen was born on September 1, 1952 in Shreveport, La., and was a standout scholastic star in all sports at Turner High School. Tom and his wife, Patti, have two youngsters, Ryan, 4 and Meagan, 2 and reside in Wichita during the off-seasons.

Wide Receiver

JOHNNY PERKINS

Abilene Chris. 4/21/53

7th Year

PRO: Veteran wide receiver had more hard luck in 1983, going down with an ankle injury in the season opener and was lost for the rest of the year. After missing considerable time in both 1979 and 1980 because of hamstring injuries, Johnny had two outstanding seasons back-to-back. In 1981, he had his career-best year with 51 catches for 858 yards and six TDs, then added seven more for 121 yards and two TDs in the playoffs. In 1982, he added 26 for 430 yards and two scores in the abbreviated season, and continued to be a powerful deep threat. A reserve through the early portion of his rookie season in 1977, Perkins became a starter late that season, finishing with 20 catches for 279 yards, then had a strong year in 1978 when he led the club with 32 for 514 yards and three TDs, including a 67-yard scoring grab which clinched a season-opening win over Tampa Bay. His hamstring problems slowed him down considerably in 1979 when he missed a half-dozen games, then a torn hamstring in 1980 shelved him for the final 10 games of that season. Finally recovered last year, he had the kind of year that he's always been capable of since he was drafted No. 2 in 1977. GAMES PLAYED: 1, STARTED: 0.

COLLEGE: Johnny began his collegiate career at Ranger Junior College in Texas, then finished at Abilene Christian where he won letters in both football and track, catching 98 passes for 2,190 yards and 18 TDs in his two seasons where he made All-Conference both seasons and was the Conference MVP as well. A punter, he averaged 40.1 for two years, and in track had times of 9.6 in the 100 and 47.8 in the 440 and was a member of the college's championship 440-yard relay team.

PERSONAL: John Eugene Perkins was born in Franklin, Tex., on April 21, 1953 and was a three-sport star at Granbury H.S. Perkins has nine brothers and sisters, lists fishing as his favorite hobby, and still lives in Granbury during the off-seasons.

17 JEFF RUTLEDGE
Quarterback Alabama 1/22/57
6-1 195 T '82 (Rams) 6th Year

PRO: Although he saw action in only four games last season (all as the starting QB), Rutledge made a solid impression. In his four starts, Jeff produced three 300-plus yardage games, including career highs of 29 completions in 52 attempts for 349 yards vs. Seattle, and 24 for 47 for 324 yards and a TD against the NFC champion Redskins in the season finale. Rutledge also fired away at a 14-for-29 for 325 yards and a pair of TD connections vs. Dallas, but suffered a kneecap injury in that game which cost him five weeks on the disabled list. Originally a 9th round draft pick of the Rams, Jeff spent three seasons with L.A. as a backup, then came to the Giants in a 1982 trade for a draft choice when Phil Simms went down with a knee injury. He was with the Giants for all of that '82 season, but did not see any action, then got his chance this past season and produced some strong performances in those four starts. GAMES PLAYED: 4, STARTED: 4.

COLLEGE: Rutledge won four varsity letters at Alabama, was All-SEC twice and graduated with a degree in business education. While performing for Bear Bryant's club, Jeff threw 30 career touchdown passes to break the school record held previously by Joe Namath. Rutledge also played in three Sugar Bowl games and the Liberty Bowl in his four seasons, as well as in the East-West Shrine game and Senior Bowl after his senior year. He was also president of the Student Body at Alabama and was voted the most popular senior.

PERSONAL: Jeffrey Ronald Rutledge was born in Binghamton, Ala. on January 22, 1957 and was a football, basketball and baseball ace at Banks H.S. in his hometown. His father, Paul "Jack" Rutledge played major league baseball with the Chicago Cubs and Jeff was drafted by the Cubs out of high school but took the football scholarship to Alabama instead. JEROME SALLY

Missouri 2/24/59

FA '82 3rd Year

PRO: Originally signed as a free agent by the New Orleans Saints in 1982, Sally was released late in training camp by the Saints and was in turn signed by the Giants. He saw action in four games late in the season, and in the regular season finale, had a starting job at nose tackle in the absence of the injured Bill Neill. In that outing against the Philadelphia Eagles, Sally played strongly, coming up with four tackles and a QB sack on Ron Jaworski. Last season, Jerome moved into the starting nose tackle slot when both Bill Neill and Jim Burt were injured, and he turned in a strong showing the rest of the way, finishing with 63 total tackles, 4½ QB sacks, a fumble recovery and a forced fumble, and seemed to improve each and every week. GAMES PLAYED: 16, STARTED: 10.

COLLEGE: Jerome won four varsity letters in football at Missouri as a defensive tackle and nose guard, and while he didn't win any All-Star honors, nonetheless had some big individual game efforts. He was Big-8 Player of the Week in his senior season, also won senior player awards, and won a National defensive lineman of the week honor as well.

PERSONAL: Jerome Eli Sally was born in Chicago, Ill. on February 24, 1959 and comes from a family of 12 children. He was a schoolboy football star at Proviso East H.S. in Maywood, Ill., and earned a B.S. degree in Industrial Engineering at Missouri.

MALCOLM SCOTT

Louisiana State 7/10/61

D-5'83 2nd Year

PRO: Scott had a productive training camp as a rookie, also impressed during the pre-season games, and won himself a spot on the roster as a reserve tight end, appearing in all 16 games. He saw more and more action as the season progressed and finished the year with 17 receptions for 206 yards and a 12.1 average. He had solid outings against the NFC champion Washington Redskins in both of those games, catching three for 47 yards in the first meeting, and three for 45 yards in the season finale. He also had three catches for 39 yards vs. Seattle. A strong blocker as well, Malcolm also saw extensive duty with the special teams and recorded five solo tackles on coverages and was credited with a forced fumble on a kickoff return tackle. The strongest of the tight ends with a 350-pound bench press, Malcolm has also clocked 4.8 in the 40. GAMES PLAYED: 16, STARTED: 1.

COLLEGE: Malcolm was the starting TE at LSU for three seasons and won All-SEC honors in both his junior and senior seasons. He set an alltime LSU record in his junior year when he caught 34 passes for 433 yards and a pair of TDs. His career totals of 78 catches for 863 yards and five TDs was impressive in that LSU was mostly a run-oriented club during those years.

PERSONAL: Malcolm M. Scott was born in New Orleans, La., on July 10, 1961 and was a standout varsity performer in football, basketball and swimming at St. Augustine's High School in New Orleans

44 PETE SHAW

5-10	187	T '82
		8th Year

PRO: Giants obtained this veteran safety during the 1982 off-season from the San Diego Chargers where Pete had been a starter at safety for most of his five seasons with the Chargers. With the Giants, Pete was used mostly as a special teams' man and reserve safety, and proved to be a highly competitive performer and solid hitter. He had 11 tackles on kick coverages during the season, and also served as the fifth defensive back on occasions. Last year, Pete was again a big special teams' contributor, and also stepped in as the punt return man when Leon Bright was injured. Shaw finished with 29 returns for 234 yards and 8.1 average, and tied an alltime club mark with nine returns in one game vs. the Eagles. He also had one start at strong safety vs. Atlanta and had six tackles, a QB sack, and two forced fumbles in the outing. Originally a 6th round choice of the Chargers in 1977, Pete had 12 career interceptions for 154 yards with San Diego and played in the AFC Championship game after the 1981 season. GAMES PLAYED: 15, STARTED: 1.

COLLEGE: Shaw was a three-year starter at safety for Northwestern, winning All-Big 10 honors in both 1975 and 1976, and was elected captain of the Wildcats in the 1976 season. He was also a fine student, earning a B.A. degree in 1977.

PERSONAL: Kenneth Edward "Pete" Shaw was born in Newark, N.J. on August 25, 1954, and was a standout scholastic star at Barringer H.S. in Newark. PHIL SIMMS

Quarterback Morehead State 11/3/56
6-3 215 D-1 '79 6th Year

PRO: If you look up the word "snakebitten" in the dictionary, you'll find a picture of Phil Simms next to it. In five seasons with the Giants, Simms has yet to enjoy a complete season, and in the last four has been bedeviled by one injury after another. This past year, he suffered a compound fracture dislocation of his right thumb after throwing 4-for-5 for 78 yards against the Eagles on October 9, and was lost for the remainder of the season. That latest bit of bad luck followed on the heels of a complete loss of the 1982 season when he suffered a knee injury in a pre-season outing against the Jets, underwent surgery and was gone again. In 1981, Phil was well on his way to setting club records for season completions and yardage when a shoulder separation laid him out for the balance of that campaign, after he had already thrown 172 completions for 2,031 yards and 11 TDs in 10 games. In 1980, it was the same sad story for Simms. In that campaign, he had completed 193 passes for 2,321 yards and 15 touchdowns when another shoulder injury flattened him for the final five games of that season. In that year, Phil had some big efforts, including a five-TD pass victory over St. Louis, and back-to-back 300-plus games in wins over Dallas and Green Bay. The No. 1 draft pick in 1979, Phil didn't make his NFL debut until the fifth week of the season when he appeared vs. New Orleans in a relief stint. A week later, he made his starting debut against Tampa Bay with a victorious performance, then was at the helm for four straight wins in his first four starts, and six wins in his first eight starts. Unheralded at the time of the draft, by season's end, Phil was a unanimous choice for All-NFL Rookie team honors, and was runnerup for NFC Rookie of the Year to Ottis Anderson of the Cardinals. GAMES PLAYED: 2, STARTED: 0.

COLLEGE: Only the second Morehead State player to make it in the NFL (teammate Gary Shirk is the other), Simms set alltime college marks with 409 completions for 5,545 yards and 32 touchdowns at Morehead, and also set single season marks with 370 yards vs. Tennessee Tech and four TD passes vs. Marshall, those one-game records coming in 1977. During his four varsity seasons, Phil was an honorable mention All-American by the Sporting News, and was named Offensive Player of the Year and first-team All-Conference in the Ohio Valley Conference as a junior...but made only second-team All-Conference as a senior when Morehead eschewed the passing game and opted for a ball-control offense.

PERSONAL: Phillip Simms was born in Springfield, Ky., on November 3, 1955 and played his high school sports at Southern H.S. in Louisville, as a QB in football and as a pitcher in baseball. Simms comes from a large family, which includes four brothers—William, Thomas, David and Joseph—and four sisters, Jeanette, Mary, Ann and Sara. Phil and his wife, Diana Fronfield, live in Wykoff and have a son, Christopher.

Al was originally inked as a free agent by the Philadelphia Eagles in 1981, was released and then picked up by the Kansas City Chiefs where he was the backup center for two seasons, leading the club in special teams' tackles with 18 during the 1982 season. During this past off-season, he participated in a weight program, building himself up from 256 to 275, and has also been switched to a guard position for this coming season. JOHN TAUTOLO

UCLA

FA '82

5/29/59

3rd Year

PRO: Signed as a free agent by the Giants in 1982, Tautolo was on the roster for the final four games of the season and saw action in just one of those. This past season, John saw some action at tackle, and started the final two games of the season at RT after Gordon King was injured. Originally inked by the New England Patriots as a FA in 1981, he was doing well in training camp that year, then suffered a knee injury and was out for the entire season on I.R. He was back with the Patriots in 1982, but was released during the late stages of the pre-season. Participated in the Giants' 1984 off-season program and will get a chance at right guard during the pre-season training camp. GAMES PLAYED: 6, STARTED: 2.

COLLEGE: Tautolo played four seasons at UCLA and won four varsity letters in football. He began his collegiate career as a defensive tackle, then made the switch to offensive guard his final two seasons and was named to All-Pac 10 second-team in his senior season, as well as to the All-West Coast second team and as an honorable mention All-American.

PERSONAL: John William Tautolo was born on May 29, 1959 in Long Beach, Calif., and was a scholastic star at R.A. Millikan H.S. in his hometown. Tautolo's brother, Terry, is a linebacker with the Detroit Lions and his cousin, Manu Tuiasosapo is a defensive lineman with the Seattle Seahawks.

56 LAWRENCE TAYLOR
Linebacker North Carolina 2/4/59
6-3 243 D-1 '81 4th Year

PRO: So far in his career with the Giants, Lawrence Taylor has played in 41 regular season games, yet in that relatively short period of time has reaped more individual honors than any other player in club history. Through his first three seasons with the club, Taylor has been a unanimous All-NFL selection in each of those three years; a Pro Bowl starter in each of those seasons; has been voted the top linebacker in the NFL by the Players' Association for all three of those seasons; has twice been named the Associated Press' Most Valuable Defensive Player in the NFL and was runnerup a third time; and has added the NFL's Defensive Player of the Year award from Seagram's computer awards program. In short, there is no honor extant that Taylor has not justly won during his three-year career with the Giants. Over that three year span, L.T. has amassed 313 tackles from his outside LB position, added 27 quarterback sacks, recovered fumbles, forced fumbles, blocked PATs, ran over blockers, and generally made life totally miserable for opposing quarterbacks and running backs. He's also had four pass interceptions, one of which he returned 97 yards for a touchdown, the longest TD return by a linebacker in club history. And now for the good news. He's just reaching his prime and promises to get even better...if that's possible. The Giants' No. 1 draft pick in 1981, Lawrence was an instant smash from Day One. In his first pre-season training camp scrimmage, he had four QB sacks and a fumble recovery. In his first pre-season game vs. the Bears, he had 10 solo tackles, two QB sacks and a fumble recovery, and then in his regular season performance, helped lead the club to the playoffs for the first time since 1963 with big play after big play, including one-hand QB sacks, catching swift running backs from behind for losses, and any other number of eye-catching accomplishments. At 6-3 and 243 pounds, he can still run 4.5 in the 40, is one of the strongest players on the club, and spent part of this past off-season playing basketball with the Harlem Magicians. This past season, he led the club in four categories, total tackles, quarterback sacks, fumble recoveries and forced fumbles. GAMES PLAYED: 16, STARTED: 16.

COLLEGE: Taylor was a consensus All-American at North Carolina and was the Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year in 1980. In his final season, of his 69 solo tackles, 22 were for losses behind the line of scrimmage and 16 were QB sacks. Originally a nose guard on defense at North Carolina, he eventually moved to OLB/DE in his final seasons and finished his career with 192 tackles, 21 QB sacks, 10 forced fumbles, three interceptions and three fumble recoveries and was selected for both the East-West Shrine game and Japan Bowl.

PERSONAL: Lawrence Taylor was born on February 4, 1959 in Williamsburg, Va., and played his scholastic sports at Lafayette H.S. in Williamsburgh where he was a 5-10, 180-pounder in his junior year. Also excelled in both basketball and baseball. Lawrence, his wife, and young son, now live in Upper Saddle River, N.J.

38*Running Back*6-1*210*JOHN TUGGLE*California*1/13/61*D-12B '83*2nd Year

PRO: The last player selected in the 1983 NFL Draft, Tuggle beat all the odds and made the Giants' final roster as the backup fullback to Rob Carpenter. Then, when Carpenter went down with a knee injury, Tuggle became the starter over the final five games and proved to be a solid blocker and special teams' player. All told, Tuggle had 49 yards rushing, including a 7-yard TD blast in a victory over the Eagles, and added three pass receptions for 50 yards. On special teams, he had nine kickoff returns for 156 yards, and was also among the leaders covering kickoffs with 12 solo tackles. During this past mini-camp, Tuggle suffered a knee injury and underwent surgical repair. GAMES PLAYED: 16, STARTED: 5.

COLLEGE: A four-year letterman at California, Tuggle was the starting fullback for three seasons and finished with a career total of 1,813 yards rushing, a 4.2 average and 16 touchdowns. He also set an alltime Cal record for pass receiving by a running back with 108 catches for another 914 yards and three more TDs. He was selected to play in both the Blue-Gray game and Japan Bowl after his senior year and in the latter game won offensive MVP honors, scoring a pair of TDs, one on a 65-yard run.

PERSONAL: John Davis Tuggle was born in Honolulu, Hawaii on January 13, 1961 where his father was stationed in the Armed Forces. He also lived in West Berlin as a youngster and learned to speak fluent German. He was a topnotch scholastic star at Independence High School in San Jose, Calif. where he was an All-Conference choice at running back with more than 1,000 yards rushing in his senior year, and also starred in track where he was a 15-foot pole vaulter.

68*Guard*6-3*265*J. T. TURNER*Duke*4/17/53*FA '77*8th Year

PRO: Came to the Giants in 1977 as a free agent after an earlier tryout with the Kansas City Chiefs and a season in the now defunct WFL with the Charlotte team. J. T. began his career with the Giants as a reserve defensive tackle, then was switched to offensive guard in 1978 and has been at that position ever since. Over that span, Turner has beat off several challengers for his job at right guard, and now has started 88 of his last 89 games at the position, including all 16 games this past season. GAMES PLAYED: 16, STARTED: 16.

COLLEGE: J. T. was a three-year starter at defensive tackle for Duke, winning All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors in 1974 before signing with Kansas City as a free agent. Turner also won a varsity letter in fencing at Duke, was the North Carolina state champion in fencing and won All-ACC honors in that sport as well.

PERSONAL: James Denis Turner was born on April 17, 1953 in Moultrie, Ga., then was a scholastic whiz at Ben Franklin H.S. in Philadelphia. In addition to his football and fencing prowess (he was the city fencing champion two years straight), J. T. was a National Honor Society member, and graduated 5th in a class of 408. He's also a musical star who plays the organ, trumpet, trombone, and french horn. Turner is married to the former Debra Harris and has a son, James Denis Jr., and a daughter, Nicole.

59 RICH UMPHREY
Center Colorado 12/13/58
6-3 270 D-5 '82 3rd Year

PRO: After sharing time at the center position during the early part of his rookie season in 1982, Umphrey won the job outright at the conclusion of the players' strike, and started the final seven games of that truncated campaign. His performance was strong enough to win him All-NFL Rookie honors by AP, UPI and the PFWA. Last year, Umphrey was the starter again and played strongly through the first 10 games until being laid low by an appendicitis attack which resulted in surgery and put him out of action for the remainder of the season. Completely recovered, Umphrey worked hard during the off-season and has built himself up from last year's 255 pounds to 270 for this coming season. GAMES PLAYED: 10, STARTED: 10.

COLLEGE: Rich began his collegiate career as a linebacker at Utah before a transfer to Colorado where he was eventually switched to center. He ended up being the starting center at Colorado for his final two seasons, and while Colorado did not have strong seasons in those two years, Umphrey nonetheless was compared favorably to both Dave Rimington and Brad Edelman from the same conference, and was selected to play in both the East-West Shrine and Olympia Bowl Games after his senior campaign.

PERSONAL: Richard Umphrey was born on December 13, 1958 in Garden Grove, Calif., and played his scholastic sports at Garden Grove H.S. in his hometown. A bachelor, he now resides in Santa Ana, Calif., during the off seasons.

10 BRAD VAN PELT
Linebacker Michigan State 4/5/51
6-5 235 D-2 '73 12th Year

PRO: Since becoming a starter in 1974 as strongside linebacker, the veteran Van Pelt has missed only seven games over that long span, and along the way harvested All-NFL and Pro Bowl honors for five straight seasons (1976-80.) He's also had 18 career pass interceptions which ties him with Sam Huff for the most career interceptions by a Giants' linebacker, and his 12 fumble recoveries ranks him third in alltime club annals behind Jim Katcavage and Cliff Livingston. This past season, Brad started all 16 games again and finished fourth in tackles with 82 (49 solo, 33 assists), while registering a pair of interceptions and a trio of quarterbacks sacks. Drafted on the second round of the 1973 draft, Van Pelt was a heavily sought after major league pitching prospect, but opted for football and turned down a big bonus offer from the Cleveland Indians. He had a shaky rookie season, appearing in just five games, when he was hampered by minor injuries and several positions switches (tight end, safety and linebacker) but once he settled in at strongside LB in 1974, he's been a key contributor in all phases, including special teams' play. Along the way, he's kicked off on occasion, been the backup field goal kicker, caught a pass for 20 yards, and ran a kickoff lateral back 49 yards. Truly versatile player, he won NFL Player of the Week honors in '76 season after dedicating the game to his deceased father, Arnold. In that game, Van Pelt had 10 solo tackles, two interceptions and two QB sacks in a one-man show that produced a 24-10 win over the Detroit Lions. GAMES PLAYED: 16, STARTED: 16.

COLLEGE: Van Pelt was the veritable one-man band at Michigan State. He was a three-year starter at the "monster" position, was All-Big 10 three times, and All-American twice. Won the Maxwell Trophy and was MSU's Most Valuable Player in 1972. Had 14 career interceptions and also found time to win two letters in varsity basketball and two in baseball where he was All-Big 10 twice as a powerhouse right-handed pitcher, setting strikeout records which resulted in the St. Louis Cardinals offering him $100,000 bonus money to go baseball.

PERSONAL: Brad Van Pelt was born in Owosso, Mich. on April 5, 1951 and was all-everything at Owosso H.S. after being a Little League and Punt, Pass and Kick winner too. Brad and his wife, Susan, have four sons—Arnold Justen, Bret Christopher, Bradley and Brian Wellington.

87BYRON WILLIAMS*Wide Receiver Texas-Arlington 10/31/60*6-2*180*FA '83*2nd Year

PRO: A late-season addition after being signed as a FA, Byron was almost an instant hit, catching 20 passes for 346 yards and a touchdown in just five appearances, with three of those games producing 100-plus yards of receptions for the youngster who was Green Bay's 10th round draft pick last year. Williams' big games came against the Super Bowl champion Los Angeles Raiders (5 for 119 yards and a 43-yard TD), Seattle (7 for 103), and the NFC champion Washington Redskins (8 for 124). Byron was one of the last cuts by the Packers in the '83 training camp despite showing good hands, concentration and acceleration. GAMES PLAYED: 5, STARTED: 0.

COLLEGE: Williams was a three-year starter at Texas-Arlington where his career totals showed 44 catches for 781 yards and five touchdowns in a run-oriented offense. Was clocked at 4.4 in college and also bench pressed 300 pounds, and also doubled some as a kickoff return specialist with 12 returns for 210 yards and a 17.5 average.

23PERRY WILLIAMS*Cornerback No. Carolina State 5/12/61*6-2*200*D-7 '83*First Year

PRO: Williams was enjoying an outstanding training camp and pre-season last year as a 7th round draft choice, displaying great speed, hitting ability and coverage capabilities, then suffered a stress fracture of his foot after the second pre-season game and went on Injured Reserve for the rest of the season. He managed a full recovery during the season and was able to workout with the club on a regular basis, and continued to show that excellent potential. With Terry Jackson departed via trade to Seattle, Williams will get the opportunity to compete for that right corner spot in training camp. GAMES PLAYED: 0.

COLLEGE: Perry was a three-year starter for the Wolfpack at cornerback, and during his career at N.C. State, had 182 total tackles, six interceptions and 23 pass deflections. Clocking in 4.39 for the 40-yard dash, Williams also earned varsity letters in track where he was the Atlantic Coast Conference 200-meter champion with a 21.0 clocking. He was the anchorman on State's 400 and 800-meter relay teams which won first-place honors in both events in the 1982 Penn Relays. He majored in Humanities and Social Sciences.

PERSONAL: Perry Lamar Williams was born in Hamlet, N.C. on May 12, 1961, and was a scholastic standout at Richmond High School in Rockingham, N.C. where he was All-Conference and team captain in football, leading his school to a 12-2 record and the State championship in his senior year. BUTCH WOOLFOLK

Michigan 3/1/60
D-1 '82 3rd Year

PRO: Butch had a highly productive season in 1983, leading the club in rushing for the second straight season, this time with a personal high of 857 yards, and along the way also set an alltime NFL record when he rushed 43 times in a 23-0 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles. He had 159 yards rushing on those 43 attempts for another personal high, and also recorded a 100-plus receiving day when he caught four passes for 135 yards against the Dallas Cowboys. Butch has proven to be a fine receiver coming out of the backfield, grabbing 28 passes this past season for 368 yards and a 13.1 average to go along with his 23 catches during the strike-shortened '82 season. During that shortened rookie campaign, Butch rolled up 1,091 yards of total offense, including 439 yards rushing, scored four touchdowns overall, and was a unanimous choice for the All-NFL Rookie team, as well as winning NFC Offensive Rookie of the Year honors in voting done by the NFL Players' Association. He led the Big-10 in rushing with 1,459 yards as a senior, including a 253-yard game vs. Michigan State and was selected to play in both the Hula Bowl and Olympia Gold Bowl games. Also won four letters in track at Michigan, qualifying for the 1980 Olympic Trials in the 200-meters. He was Big-10 champion at both 200 and 300 meters that same year.

PERSONAL: Harold "Butch" Woolfolk was born on March 1, 1960 in Milwaukee, Wisc., then moved to Westfield, N.J. where he graduated from Westfield H.S. in 1978 as an All-State football and track star. He now resides in Secaucus, N.J. during the off-seasons and stayed active with player appearances and as a member of the Giants' off-season basketball team.

1984 DRAFTED ROOKIES

Linebacker
Michigan State

CARL BANKS
Round One
6-4 232

Consensus All-American and top-rated player in the draft on Giants' turn to pick, Banks was only the ninth player in 87-year history of Big Ten to earn All-Conference first-team honors for three straight seasons. An "ironman" type of player, Banks won a starting job in the latter part of his freshman season with Spartans and then played in 43 of 44 games during his collegiate career, missing one game in his senior year because of a strained knee. Was considered to be the most physically dominating player at Michigan State since former star George Webster. During his four years at State, Banks finished with 279 total tackles, the third highest total in State history, with 25 of those tackles behind the line of scrimmage for minus yardage. He added two pass interceptions, four fumble recoveries and eight pass deflections, and accentuated his senior year by being named to play in the Blue-Gray Game, Hula Bowl and Senior Bowl contests. Carl was also named co-captain in both his junior and senior seasons, was named Most Valuable Player in his senior year and also won the Governor of Michigan Award from Governor James Blanchard. Born on February 29, 1962, Banks was an outstanding student-athlete at Beecher High School in Flint, Michigan, winning All-State honors in football as well as honorable mention All-State laurels in basketball. Additionally, he was a standout shot-putter in track, finishing third in the State championships to help Beecher win the Michigan State championship in track. Banks was also a vice-president of the student government organization in high school, and at that time began working summers as a grave digger in the area, which eventually led to the nickname, "Killer," an appellation which he embellished considerably with his punishing style of play and field disposition along the way. A Communications major at Michigan State, Banks has his eye on an eventual career in public relations when his playing days are concluded. He admits to being overjoyed at being selected by the Giants, since his top pro football idol over the past several years has been Giants' outside linebacker Lawrence Taylor. Carl has watched L.T. in person at the Pontiac Silverdome and on television the last couple of years and says he has styled his own brand of play after Taylor's hellacious brand of mayhem. Banks also likes Hugh Green of the Tampa Bay Bucs, and obviously, could not have picked two better role models. As a sophomore, Banks saw some service at a DE position, and in that season had his personal high in tackles with 97, which led to his being named first-team All-Conference as a soph—only the fifth Spartan ever to win those honors as a sophomore.

BILL ROBERTS

Tackle
Ohio State

Round One (A)
6-5 275

By swinging a deal with the Washington Redskins in which the Giants bartered their second round pick and a fifth round choice to get the Redskins' first-round selection, the Giants were able to come up with their top-rated offensive tackle on the board, All-American Bill Roberts of Ohio State. A permanent fixture at left tackle for three seasons with the Buckeyes, Roberts won four letters at Ohio State, won the starting job after his freshman season and started 36 consecutive games at the position from his sophomore season through his final collegiate outing. Began his career at State as a 245-pounder, then worked hard with weights to get himself up to his current 275-pound stature. Roberts was credited as the moving force which created the openings for ex-Buckeye RB Tim Spencer to rush for 3,553 yards and become the second all-time OSU rusher behind Archie Griffin, and while Ohio State was not exactly a pass-happy team, Roberts nonetheless got top ratings from the pro scouts for his pass-blocking capabilities. An excellent all-around athlete, Roberts has been timed at 4.9 in the 40, exceptional speed for such a big man, and received top grades for his quickness off the ball and for his ability to get into his blocks as fast as anyone in the country. He's also got what all offensive line coaches look for... the "good feet" attribute, lightness and agility on pass blocking techniques. Born on August 5, 1962, Roberts is now a resident of Miami, Fla., and prepped at Carol City High School in Florida where he was twice MVP in football, and also captained both the football and basketball teams in high school, with his biggest thrill in high school coming when he scored a TD after scooping up a teammates' fumble. After building up to his 275-pound form, Roberts won All-Big Ten honors in his junior season, then was named offensive co-captain in his senior season when he again won All-Big 10 honors, as well as second team All-American honors from the Football News. He was also selected to play in the Japan Bowl after his senior season. Bill's father is a school teacher in Florida, and two of his pro sports idols are former Ohio State All-American Chris Ward, now with the Jets, and boxing champion Sugar Ray Leonard. Roberts, like fellow first-rounder Carl Banks, is a Communications major at Ohio State and his favorite hobbies are fishing and playing pinball machines.

JEFF HOSTETLER

Quarterback
West Virginia

Round Three
6-3 215

A bonafide All-American candidate at West Virginia after a two-year term at Penn State, Jeff transferred after 1980 season due to lack of playing time behind Todd Blackledge, then had outstanding years at West Virginia, leading that team to consecutive 9-3 seasons while completing 290 passes for 24 touchdowns, a 53% completion mark and 4,055 yards in those two campaigns. With All-American mentions in both of those seasons, Jeff was also a first-team Academic All-American after compiling a perfect 4.0 GPA majoring in Finance, leading to the accolade of "schoolboy smart and farmboy strong." Born on April 22, 1961 in Hollsopple, Pa., where he grew up and worked on his family's chicken farm, Jeff was a 1,000-yard rusher as a tailback at Conenough Township High School and was named to the scholastic All-American team as a linebacker that same year. At Penn State, he began his collegiate career as a quarterback and was used sparingly in his freshman season, then won the starting QB job as a soph at State over Blackledge. He was then relegated to a backup role despite a 2-1 record as the starter, and then transferred to West Virginia following the 1980 season. As a junior at West Virginia, he was an honorable mention All-American and won national player of the week honors when he led the Mountaineers to a 41-27 upset over Oklahoma with 17 completions for 321 yards and four TD passes. In his senior campaign, Jeff won player of the game awards four times for his efforts vs. Pitt, Syracuse, Boston College and Virginia Tech and led his club to big and consecutive wins over nationally ranked Maryland, Boston College and Pitt. Finished his final season with 163 completions for 2,257 yards, a 56.9% completion mark and 14 TD passes, and added seven touchdowns rushing. Jeff was regarded as a master of reading defenses, thanks to a photographic memory, has an excellent grasp of the passing game and received strong ratings for his arm, speed, leadership abilities and competitive instincts. He was one of 11 scholar-athletes nationally to be honored by the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame, and such was his academic acumen that the faculty of the finance department at West Virginia nominated him for a Rhodes Scholarship. Initially, Jeff had chosen Penn State since two older brothers, Ron and Doug, had earned varsity letters there as linebackers.

CONRAD GOODE

Tackle
Missouri

Round Four 275

6-6

Big, strong youngster came on like gangbusters in his senior year to win first-team All-American honors from both UPI and Football News, as well as earning All-Big Eight honors for a third consecutive season. Blessed with natural ability, he also earned high praise for his outstanding motivation and desire to succeed. Just for examples, he built himself up from 240 pounds as a sophomore to his current 275 weight, increased his bench press some 70 pounds up to 350-pound range, and reduced his 40-yard dash times from 5.1 to 4.8 in recent timings. Named co-captain in his senior year, he prospered in that final campaign because of his own determination to improve on all aspects of his game over the previous two seasons. As a junior, when Missouri had a lackluster 5-4-2 season and Goode was named to just the All-Big Eight second unit, his own self-assessment was that he could play much better than he had shown in 1982. He became a daily visitor to the weight room, totally committed himself during the off-season, and then went on to have a sizzling senior year, winning those first-team All-American and All-Big Eight honors, and then being named to play in the East-West Shrine Game at the conclusion of the season. And, while he was a dominating run blocker in Missouri's revitalized running attack, he also worked diligently on his pass blocking and improved that aspect of his game as well. Had a spectacular game against Oklahoma All-American Rick Bryan, outplaying him to such a degree that Bryan managed only two tackles in the entire game. Born on January 19, 1962, Goode's father was Conrad Hitchler, a former All-American end at Missouri, and his stepfather is Irv Goode, a former NFL offensive lineman with the St. Louis Cardinals, Buffalo Bills and Miami Dolphins. Conrad was a dominant schoolboy star at Parkway Central High School in St. Louis, winning All-American and All-Conference honors in football and winning basketball letters as well. No less than 35 major football colleges recruited him out of high school before he decided on Missouri where he reported as a 6-5, 225-pound freshman. As he continued to work himself up, he made the All-Big Eight team as a sophomore, repeated as a junior, and then had that powerful senior season which propelled him into the national spotlight. He majored in Commercial Art in college.

GARY REASONS

Linebacker

Round Four (A)

Northwest Louisiana St.

6-4

235

Here's a small school terror who became the first player in Division I-AA history to earn Coaches first-team All-American honors for three consecutive years. In addition to that, he became only the third player in his school's history to have his jersey retired, and he was chosen by the Louisiana Sportswriters Association and the New Orleans Times-Picayune as the Most Valuable Defensive Player in the state of Louisiana regardless of division, and including every major college in the state. All told, Reasons finished his collegiate career with 394 total tackles, including 30 tackles for losses behind the line of scrimmage; five interceptions, two fumble recoveries and 10 deflected passes. Elected team captain and defensive MVP in his senior year, Reasons went on to have marvelous senior year... despite the fact he suffered broken bones in both hands during spring drills. He finished his senior year with 172 total tackles, a school record, including 21 tackles in season opening win over McNeese State. A week later he had 14 tackles and an interception vs. Angelo State, and then 18 stops the next week against Tulsa. Considered to be a highly intelligent, extremely competitive type player, and is expected to get his initial work with the Giants at the inside backer position where depth is necessary this coming season. Born on February 18, 1962 in Crowley, Tex., Gary lettered in football, basketball and baseball at Crowley High School, but was not heavily recruited after graduation. He continued to show constant improvement, however, and made a lot of the recruiters cringe after making that Division I-AA All-American team three times running. Gary majored in Business Administration at Northwest.

Safety
East Carolina

CLINT HARRIS
Round Five
6-0 205

Outstanding athlete who has all of the natural ability to become a top safety, including speed, quickness, range and strength. Clint has been clocked in 4.4 for the 40 and was a State AAU sprint champion in both the 100 and 200 meter dashes, with a 10.3 clocking in the 100 meters. He's also one of the team's top weight lifters with a bench press of 340 pounds and boasts of a 33" vertical leap. Won honorable mention All-American honors in both his junior and senior seasons, and was first-team All-South in both of those campaigns. A starter for virtually all of his career at ECU, he finished his collegiate career with 318 total tackles, and had 16 pass interceptions for a school record 360 yards returned, with two of the returns going for touchdowns. Opened this past 1983 season with a solid bang in a wild 47-46 loss to Florida State when he had a game-high 19 tackles in a losing effort. Clint also came up with a sparkling performance vs. Florida Gators when he intercepted Gator QB Wayne Peace three times, and had a fourth interception in the game negated by a holding penalty. As a junior, his 131 yards of interception returns ranked third in the country in Division I-A, and included in his TD returns on thefts were long distance gallops of 74 yards vs. Temple and 77 yards vs. Central Michigan. Also regarded as a powerful hitter, he had several sinewy stops which caused fumbles, and in his senior year added six fumble recoveries, proving he's usually around the action. Harris was born on August 19, 1962 and was a dynamic all-around athletic star at Great Bridge High School in Chesapeake, Va., winning All-City, All-District and All-State honors as a defensive back, running back and wide receiver, and then adding honors in track in the dashes and on the relay teams. A criminology major at East Carolina, Clint also devoted much of his time supporting Special Olympics.

Defensive End
Clemson

JAMES SCOTT
Round Six
6-5 260

A four-year letterman at Clemson as a defensive tackle Scott will get his chance at the defensive end position when he reports to pre-season training camp. Here's another case of a player who showed marked improvement from one season to the next. He won a spot on the varsity as a freshman 230-pounder, seeing only infrequent action and appearing in just four games, then continued to work hard and build himself up in the weight room. He was used more frequently as a sophomore, playing in nine games as a swing man at DT, and in those games in which he saw the most action, graded out at 93% for his efforts by the coaching staff. In his final two seasons, he had bulked up to 260 pounds and saw starting services those remaining two campaigns. Received strong ratings from the pro scouts for his leadership abilities and work habits, also for his quickness and agility off the ball. Continued to improve his pass rush from the inside position each season, as well as his overall strength and endurance. Usually around the action, as evidenced by several games in which he had two fumble recoveries. Had a particularly strong performance this past season against Boston College in which he was all over the field, getting in on a dozen tackles, causing one fumble and recovering two others. Reminded one pro scout of a younger Jack Youngblood type player with great potential. Born on April 14, 1962 in Alexandria, Va., Scott was a letterman in both football and track at Mount Vernon High School in his hometown, and as an offensive tackle was an All-American scholastic selection, as well as All-State and All-Region, while being named Offensive Player of the Year by the Washington Star.

LIONEL MANUEL

Wide Receiver
Pacific

Round Seven
5-11 175

Looking for some additional outside speed at the wide receiver position, the Giants came up with this swifty who won Pacific Coast Athletic Association All-Conference honors this past season when he grabbed 55 receptions for 760 yards and seven touchdowns. With consistent clockings of 4.4 and 4.5 in the 40 and a 9.4 clocking in the 100, Manuel has the ability to get deep and to catch the ball. The pro scouts were also impressed with his ability to make the difficult catch, and also with his speed and running ability after the catch. With that speed and running ability, Lionel was also a threat on screen passes to the outside. Manuel began his collegiate career at Citrus Junior College in California, where he won All-Mission Conference first-team honors as a soph wide receiver, and won team MVP honors with his 32 catches for 588 yards and five TDs, adding a 93-yard punt return for another touchdown. A quarterback in his first year at Citrus, Lionel also lettered in track in junior college and won the conference long jump title twice. Born on April 13, 1962 in Rancho Cucamonga, Calif., Manuel won six varsity letters in football and track at Bassett High School in his hometown, and twice was a first-team All-League selection, and league MVP in his senior season. He was named his school's Athlete of the Year in 1980 and was named a National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame Scholar Athlete that same year. As a sprint-out type QB in high school, he rushed for more than 500 yards, and in one game threw for three touchdowns and scored three more rushing. In his first appearance at Pacific, Lionel had a dazzling debut in the spring game, grabbing five receptions, including TD grabs of 40 and 17 yards.

DAVID JORDAN

Guard
Auburn

Round Ten
6-6 267

Continuing their quest for big offensive linemen, the Giants went for some depth at guard by taking this two-time All-SEC first team choice from Auburn. Originally a tight end in his freshman year, Jordan was then moved to an offensive tackle position in his sophomore year, and eventually found a home at offensive guard after the Auburn coaches recognized his powerful one-on-one blocking capabilities. A critical position in the Wishbone offense, Jordan developed into a solid drive blocker who proved dominant at the point of attack. He was one of the big reasons for RBs Bo Jackson and Lionel James averaging 7.0 yards per rush in '83 and 6.5 in '82. Received top grades from coaching staff in every game over the past two years, and in Auburn's 37-14 win over Tennessee this past season, received a 93% grade—the highest one-game grade ever given by coach Pat Dye. If he has a weakness, it's that he has not completely mastered pro pass-blocking techniques, but that can be worked on considering his strength and agility for a man of his size. In addition to his back-to-back first-team All-SEC honors in '82 and '83, David won honorable mention All-American honors, and was also selected to play in the Hula Bowl after his senior year. Born on July 14, 1962 in Birmingham, Ala., Jordan comes from a family of Auburn graduates. He won varsity letters in football and track at Vestavia High School in Birmingham, winning All-Conference honors for two seasons as a tight end and offensive lineman.

HEYWARD GOLDEN

Safety
South Carolina State

Round Ten
6-0 192

A two-year starter at free safety for South Carolina State, Heyward won three varsity letters at State, and as a fifth-year senior after being reshirted due to a shoulder injury in 1981, showed increasing maturity at the position over his final two campaigns. With a solid track background in high school (he clocked 48.7 in the 400 meters), he's run consistent 4.5s in the 40, and along with his fine size and strength proved to be a solid hitter from the secondary, particularly when the safety blitz was called. Led the South Carolina State secondary in tackles in each of the past two campaigns, and received fine ratings from the scouts for his leadership abilities and overall intelligence. Came up with particularly good performances this past year against Florida A&M and Grambling, getting in on 11 tackles and adding three pass deflections in the first game, and adding a dozen stops and a pair of interceptions in the latter outing. Golden was also selected to play in the Freedom Bowl Classic at the conclusion of last season, and received good reports from that outing for his speed and hitting ability. In the first five games of his final season at State, Golden had 48 total tackles, including a trio of quarterback sacks on the blitz, and another half-dozen stops behind the line of scrimmage for minus yardage. Born on November 5, 1960 in Sumter, S.C., Heyward was a fine all-around scholastic star in football, track and basketball at Sumter High School in his hometown, winning All-Conference honors in both football and track.

FRANK CEPHOUS

Running Back
UCLA

Round Eleven
5-10 205

All-purpose type of back who played both fullback and tailback during his four year career at UCLA, with most of his early work coming at the tailback position. Saw only limited duty in his frosh season with but seven carries as a tailback, but continued to improve over the next several seasons, and working primarily as a tailback and backup to Kevin Nelson, continued to hone his skills and contribute overall with his versatility. Rated as a tough and productive short yardage runner, Cephus was primarily a fullback this past season, and showed marked improvement in both his blocking and pass receiving abilities. With consistent 4.6 clockings in the 40 and with good burst off the ball, he finished his career at UCLA with a strong 4.0 rushing average on 945 yards rushing in 237 carries, and scored 12 rushing touchdowns over that span. He added 36 career pass receptions for another 300 yards, and his blocking proved to be excellent, particularly in that senior season. Versatility continues to be his strongpoint, and he could well become a solid role player in the NFL. Born on the Fourth of July, 1961 in Philadelphia, Pa., Cephus grew up in Newark, Del., and was a standout scholastic star at St. Mark's High School in Wilmington, Del. He earned Catholic All-American high school honors in his senior year when he rushed for 1,052 yards and nine touchdowns, and also won varsity letters in track, and was elected captain in both sports. He set an alltime school record in his senior year when he rushed for 305 yards, returned a kickoff for 88 yards, and had 60 additional yards receiving in a single game.

LAWRENCE GREEN

Linebacker
Tennessee-Chattanooga

Round Twelve
6-2 230

Nicknamed "Bubba," Green was rated as a highly talented small college player with major college potential. A three-year starter, he concluded his collegiate career with a total of 222 total tackles, including 130 solos; added eight quarterback sacks, four fumble recoveries and three pass interceptions, and had a well-earned reputation as a hellacious tackler. With a combination of outstanding speed (4.6 and 4.7 clockings in the 40) and 230-pound size, Green received solid ratings for his straight-ahead speed and explosive, bone-jarring tackling style which produced numerous opponent fumbles. Among his career highlights: 17 solo tackles, a QB sack and two other tackles for losses vs. Louisiana Tech; 23 total tackles and pass interception vs. Vanderbilt; 19 total tackles and QB sack in victory over the Citadel; and 13 solo stops vs. Arkansas State. Displayed outstanding special teams' talents as a freshman when he was used chiefly as a reserve linebacker, then won a starting job in his soph season when his headhunting capabilities were discovered by the coaching staff. As a junior, he had 101 total tackles on the season and was named to the All-Southern Conference honorable mention squad, then was a Street and Smith Pre-Season All-Atlantic Coast choice the following Autumn. Born on May 15, 1962 in Florence, Ala., Green was a veritable one-man band playing scholastic sports at Bradshaw High in his hometown, earning All-State honors as a fullback and linebacker in football, and also earning varsity letters for three years in both basketball and track.

THE 1983 SEASON IN REVIEW

September 4

GIANTS 6, L.A. Rams 16 (75,281)

At Giants Stadium

Turnovers—an affliction that was to plague the Giants all year long— was much in evidence in this season opener as QB Scott Brunner threw a trio of interceptions and fumbled the ball away also to aid the Rams to a 16-6 triumph. The Rams got on the board on their first possession via a 36-yard FG by Chuck Nelson. The Giants then took their only lead of the contest in the second period, with RB Rob Carpenter doing virtually all of the work. First, he broke a 37-yarder on a cutback over right end, then capped the drive with a 4-yard scoring jaunt. The Rams bounced right back to take the lead for good on a 63-yard drive, with Vince Ferragamo hitting TE Mike Barber for an 8-yard TD and a 10-6 halftime lead. That same pair hooked up for the final scoring of the day early in the third period, with Barber wide open down the middle on the receiving end of a 42-yard TD throw from Ferragamo. Thereafter, the Giants held defensively, but Brunner threw all three of his interceptions in the final period to negate any chances the Giants might have had. Carpenter was pretty much the entire Giants' offense, rushing 17 times for 113 yards and catching five passes to lead in both departments.

GIANTS 16, Atlanta 13 (52,850)

At Atlanta

Rookie Place-kicker Ali Haji-Sheikh, who had missed his only two kicking attempts a week earlier, nailed three field goals, the final one a 30-yarder in overtime, to give Coach Bill Parcells his first NFL victory, a 16-13 overtime triumph. Actually, the game should not have even gone to overtime, since the Giants blew countless opportunities to break the game wide open, including a pair of moves inside the Falcon's 10-yard line which were pushed back by penalties, resulting in no score at all. Haji-Sheikh's first FG from 37 yards gave the Giants a 3-0 first period lead. Scott Brunner's 8-yard TD pass to Earnest Gray made it 10-0 in the second period, before a Mick Luckhurst 42-yard FG with one second left in the first half made it 10-3. Luckhurst hit again from 39 yards to cut it to 10-6 in the third session, and Haji-Sheikh retaliated with a 31-yarder for a 13-6 edge. Brunner then threw an interception which was returned to the Giants' 11 to set up Steve Bartkowski's 6-yard TD pass to Alfred Jackson to knot it with 3:06 to play in regulation. In overtime, Mike Dennis' 54-yard kickoff return positioned Haji-Sheikh's game-winning FG. Rob Carpenter had a second straight big game, rushing 28 times for 111 yards, while John Mistler had five pass receptions. CB Mark Haynes recovered two fumbles, had five tackles and knocked down five passes for the defense.

September 18GIANTS 13, Dallas 28 (62,347)*At Dallas

A deadly dose of turnover fever flattened the Giants in this one at Texas Stadium. Locked in a tense battle midway through the final period and trailing by just one point at 14-13, the Giants' Larry Flowers intercepted Danny White and returned into Cowboy territory. Then, driving for the lead after a 14-yard draw by Butch Woolfolk to the Cowboy's 36, QB Scott Brunner had a screen pass to Billy Campfield picked off by Dexter Clinkscale who returned the pilfer 68 yards for a Cowboys' TD. If that wasn't bad enough, on the ensuing Cowboy kickoff, Campfield returned the kickoff 17 yards, was clobbered by Robert Newhouse and fumbled the ball to Michael Downs who picked it up and waltzed 10 yards for another back-breaking touchdown and a 28-13 Cowboys' advantage. The two gift scores came within 12 seconds and ruined an otherwise strong Giants' performance. The Giants led 3-0 after one period, then fell behind on a controversial TD catch by Doug Cosbie who was jarred in the end zone and lost the ball after the catch. Brunner was subsequently intercepted again with the return going to the Giants' one-yard line, and another Cosbie TD catch made it 14-3. But Woolfolk's one-yard TD dive closed it to 14-10 in the third period, and a 27-yard Haji-Sheikh FG made it 14-13 leading up to the disastrous double turnover in the final minutes.

September 26GIANTS 27, Green Bay 3 (75,308)*At Giants Stadium

A strong running attack and some ferocious defense combined to give the Giants a smashing 27-3 triumph over the Packers in this Monday Night special at Giants Stadium. After the Packers had taken an early 3-0 lead, the Giants retaliated with a 79-yard drive capped by Rob Carpenter's 14-yard TD run, and then after a goal line stand had stopped the Pack cold at the Giants' one-yard line on a great defensive play by CB Mark Haynes, rookie Ali Haji-Sheikh kicked a club record 56-yard FG just before halftime for a 10-3 edge. Early in the third, DE Dee Hardison jolted Eddie Lee Ivery causing a fumble with CB Terry Jackson picked up and returned 35 yards for another touchdown. The Sheikh added another FG in this period after another Packer fumble, then Scott Brunner fired a 27-yard TD pass to Earnest Gray for the 27-3 bulge, still in the third period. After that, the Giants' defense continued to play tough, and Carpenter piled up 116 yards rushing, his third 100-plus outing in four games. Butch Woolfolk added 75 yards in just 11 carries as the Giants totaled 208 yards rushing in the victory, while the defense shut down the Pack with just 53 yards rushing in the outing. The Giants also had four sacks with a revamped linebacking unit in the absence of injured All-Pro Harry Carson, with fellow All-Pro Lawrence Taylor moving to the inside.

October 2GIANTS 34, San Diego 41 (73,892)*At Giants Stadium

QB Scott Brunner had his alltime single game passing performance in this one, completing 31 of 51 passes for 395 yards, but his two lost fumbles inside the Chargers' 5 and 12 yard lines killed golden opportunities and led to the 41-34 setback. Two other Giant fumbles led directly to a pair of San Diego scores as turnovers continued to kill the Giants. Those first two lost bobbles by Rob Carpenter and Joe Morris gave the Chargers a quick 13-0 lead before the Giants got on the board via a Haji-Sheikh FG. Then it went to 20-3 before Brunner connected on a 51-yard TD throw to Earnest Gray, and then Scott hit Danny Pittman for a 40-yard TD toss to close it to 27-17 at halftime. The game continued to see-saw into the fourth period when Brunner's 21-yard TD throw to Tom Mullady and Haji-Sheikh's 37 yard FG tied it at 34-34. With Dan Fouts out of the game after being battered by the Giants' pass rush, reserve Ed Luther took San Diego 77 yards for the go-ahead score, with Chuck Muncie scoring on a 34-yard sprint. Back came the Giants on a march for the knotting score, but after Brunner missed a wide-open John Mistler in the end zone, Scott dropped the ball on an ensuing pass attempt from the 12, with San Diego recovering to kill the final threat. WR Earnest Gray had another big day with nine catches for 159 yards, with Mistler adding eight for 91 yards. LB Lawrence Taylor had six tackles, a QB sack and an interception.

October 9GIANTS 13, Philadelphia 17 (73,291)*At Giants Stadium

Two controversial calls by the officials cost the Giants dearly in this one, as did two more critical turnovers. Not only that, but QB Phil Simms, who had replaced Scott Brunner in the third period, and who was enjoying a good performance, suffered a fractured right thumb in the game and was lost for the rest of the season—the second year in succession that he had suffered that fate. After reaching the Eagle 5 in the opening period, the Giants had to settle for a Haji-Sheikh 21-yard FG for an early 3-0 lead, then trailed 7-6 at halftime after an Eagle TD catch by Mike Quick. The Giants also blew an opportunity just before halftime when Brunner ran a draw to the Eagle 18-yard line, but fumbled the ball away when hit at that point. Ron Jaworski hit Quick for another score, this one from 18 yards, for a 14-6 lead in the third period. When Brunner threw an interception on the next series, he was replaced by Simms who then hit on four-of-four passes for 78 yards, leading to a 7-yard TD slant by Butch Woolfolk to cut the gap to 14-13. Midway through the final period, Simms fractured the thumb on a passing attempt and went out for the season. The Eagles then came back for a 25-yard FG by Tony Franklin for the 17-13 lead. Earlier, the Giants lost an apparent touchdown when the Eagles fumbled a punt into their own end zone where Frank Marion fell on it for the apparent TD, only to have the officials call a holding penalty on the Giants to negate the score. And on the Giants' final possession, Brunner scrambled for an apparent 17-yard gain to the Eagles' 32, only to have the refs blow that dead with an "in the grasp" call.

Another giveaway for the Giants. Leading 17-10 midway through the third period, Scott Brunner threw an interception which was returned 42 yards for a touchdown, and then Leon Bright fumbled away a punt return to the Chiefs who cashed that one in from short range to begin a run of 28 unanswered points for the home team. All told, the Giants turned it over five times on three interceptions and two lost fumbles. It started early when Brunner was sacked and fumbled the ball away at the Chief's 15 to kill an early threat. At that, the Giants led 14-10 at halftime on a 15-yard Brunner TD toss to Rob Carpenter and Butch Woolfolk's 8-yard TD burst, set up by a Brunner-to-Carpenter throw for 38 yards. The Giants had a chance to enhance in the third period, with a first and goal at the Chiefs' 5-yard line, but couldn't move it and settled for a 21-yard Haji-Sheikh FG and that 17-10 lead. Then came the pass interception return for a Chiefs' TD and the fumbled punt return to put the Chiefs in front. Another interception on Brunner led to another K.C. score as the Chiefs poured it on in the final period. Earnest Gray had another big day for the Giants with eight catches for 111 yards.

October 24GIANTS 20, St. Louis 20 (45,530)*At St. Louis

A wild and wooly Monday Nighter, the Giants again blew a 17-10 lead in the third period when a fumbled handoff between QB Jeff Rutledge and WR Floyd Eddings was returned 32 yards for a Cardinal touchdown. The Giants went ahead 20-17 on Ali-Haji-Sheikh's 14th consecutive FG, but the Cardinals knotted it in the final minute, forcing an overtime session which proved to be a bizarre one for the Cardinals. Three times the home team had possession deep in Giants' territory, but place-kicker Neil O'Donoghue missed three field goal attempts in the overtime—one from 19 yards—as the game ended in an overtime deadlock. O'Donoghue had given St. Louis an early 3-0 lead on a 34-yarder, but Bill Currier's 30-yard interception return for his first NFL touchdown made it 7-3, Giants. A Brad Van Pelt interception set up Rob Carpenter's one-yard TD for a 14-10 Giants' halftime lead, then Haji-Sheikh booted a 40-yarder for the 17-10 lead prior to the bobbled handoff which resulted in the knotting Cardinal score. Rutledge fired 20-for-46 for 210 yards in his first start at QB for the Giants, but was sacked six times and intercepted twice. The Giants sacked Neil Lomax three times and intercepted him as many times. Haji-Sheikh's string of consecutive FGs ended on the final play of regulation when he attempted a mammoth 66-yarder which fell short.

At Giants Stadium

Another malaise of miscues as QB Jeff Rutledge threw three interceptions and fumbled the ball away three more times before suffering an injury to a kneecap which forced him out of the game in the final period. Rutledge also threw for 325 yards during the game as the Giants were knotted at 17-17 in the third period and trailed by only 24-20 in the final session, before the Cowboys took advantage of turnovers to win going away. Rutledge's 46-yard TD pass to rookie TE Zeke Mowatt got the Giants on top early, then a 27-yard Haji-Sheikh FG tied the game at 17 in the third period. When Doug Cosbie got loose for a 61-yard TD catch down the middle, it went to 24-17, and Haji-Sheikh got it close again with a 29-yard FG, but then interceptions led to the final Dallas scores and broke open what had been a tight contest. Butch Woolfolk had a big game with 71 yards rushing and 135 yards on four pass receptions, and Harry Carson returned after missing six games and had 19 tackles. Rookie Terry Kinard had a pair of interceptions, 10 tackles, a fumble recovery and two pass deflections. Rutledge's injury would sideline him for five weeks.

GIANTS 9, Detroit 15 (69,985)

At Detroit

In their third Monday Night appearance of the season, the Giants were again plagued by a lack of offensive punch, with their only scoring coming on a trio of Haji-Sheikh field goals. And, as usual, there were the turnovers, with Scott Brunner throwing three interceptions and Butch Woolfolk fumbling it away twice...with one of those bobbles finishing up in the Giants' end zone where Rich Umphrey fell on it for a safety for the Lions. The game also marked the end of the season for Rob Carpenter who suffered a knee injury in the second half, and was out for the remainder of the year after gaining 624 yards rushing in the first 10 games. Rookie Ali Haji-Sheikh equalled his own club record set earlier in the season when he boomed a 56-yard FG in the first half to close the score at that point to 12-6 Detroit. The only TD in the game was a 2-yard slant by Billy Sims after Sims had broken a 37-yard run to set up the TD. CB Terry Jackson had two interceptions for the Giants, both in the second period.

November 13 GIANTS 17, Washington 33 (71,482) At Giants Stadium

The tone of this one was set early when, on the Giant's first offensive play of the game, Scott Brunner's pass was batted into the air and picked off by Skins' DE Dexter Manley, with Washington scoring a TD four plays later. Then, the turnover hex continued as first Leon Bright, then Pete Shaw fumbled away punt returns to the Redskins, and the NFC champions, as usual, capitalized on both mistakes for additional scores. The Skins continued to roll, building up a 33-3 lead at one point, until Brunner got a hot hand in the final period and led the Giants on sustained drives of 88 and 99 yards, capping both drives with TD throws to WR Earnest Gray who had still another big afternoon with eight catches for 145 yards and the two touchdowns. The Giants held Washington to but 278 yards of total offense and shackled John Riggins to 61 yards on 23 carries for a 2.7 average, but the early turnovers proved too costly to overcome. LBs Harry Carson and Brian Kelley each had 15 tackles in the game, with Lawrence Taylor adding 12 and a QB sack.

With Butch Woolfolk setting an NFL record with 43 rushing attempts and the defense coming up with its most powerful performance of the year, the Giants romped to their easiest triumph of the season in this one. Woolfolk had 159 yards rushing in the victory, including an 11-yard TD scamper while the defense strangled the Eagles, limiting them to 79 yards of total offense, just four first downs, (zero first downs rushing) 0-for-11 on third down efficiency, and just 10 yards rushing. The Giants also sacked three Eagle QBs four times in the one-sided rout. Ali Haji-Sheikh's 25-yard FG got the Giants started in this one, then Woolfolk's 11-yard TD and another Sheikh FG had it at 13-0 at halftime. Ali's third FG and a 7-yard TD burst by rookie John Tuggle closed out the scoring. Earnest Gray had four receptions to lead in that department, while Pete Shaw tied an alltime club record with nine punt returns, good for 96 yards.

Despite 346 yards of passing by Scott Brunner and a reasonably close halftime score of 13-5, the eventual Super Bowl champion Raiders turned it on in the second half to win it going away. The Raider defense intercepted Brunner three times and sacked him seven times for 63 yards. The game also marked the first long workout for rookie free agent WR Bryon Williams, and he responded by catching five of Brunner's passes for 119 yards, including a 43-yard TD grab in the fourth period. WR Earnest Gray also had another 100-plus receiving day with five grabs for 134 yards, including a 62-yard catch. The Giants had led 2-0 when rookie DE Leonard Marshall tackled Jim Plunkett in the Raiders' end zone. Dave Jennings had a punt blocked for the first time since the 1976 season in this one, which resulted in a Raider FG in the second period. Cliff Branch of the Raiders had five catches for 83 yards, and moved past the 8,000-yard mark for career receiving yardage.

At Giants Stadium

A steady rainfall and cold weather resulted in a record 51,589 "no shows" as the Giants blew an early lead and continued the turnover plague with four interceptions and a lost fumble to hand the Cardinals the 10-6 victory. Neither team did much offensively, with the Cardinals totaling just 161 yards of offense and the Giants a paltry 142. Ali Haji-Sheikh booted a pair of 44-yard FGs in the first period for the early Giants' lead, but thereafter, the Giants played the turnover game and the Cardinals took advantage for their 10 points, although kicker Neil O'Donoghue missed three field goals from close range again. Three of Brunner's interceptions came in the fourth period, killing any chances the Giants might have had to get in position to pull out the victory. The Giants sacked Neil Lomax five times in the game and LB Harry Carson had 12 tackles. E.J. Junior had three sacks for the Cardinals.

Another classic example of giveaway as fumbles and an interception led directly to all 17 Seattle points in the first half. Then, on a late comeback, the Giants appeared to have pulled out a victory when QB Jeff Rutledge threw a 10-yard TD pass to Earnest Gray in the final seconds, but the score was nullified by a holding penalty on tackle John Tautolo. Earlier, John Mistler's fumble was covered by the Seahawks at the Giants' 33, leading to the first Seattle touchdown, and after Ali Haji-Sheikh hoisted a 48-yard FG, Rutledge had an interception returned to the Giants' 7-yard line, from where Seattle scored again for a 14-3 lead. After that, the only Giants' weapon was Haji-Sheikh who booted three more FGs to close it to 17-12, until the final Giants' drive and the apparent winning TD throw to Gray which was killed by the holding penalty. In his return to action after missing five games with a knee injury, Rutledge had his career-best passing day with 29 completions for 349 yards, with rookie WR Byron Williams having another 100-plus receiving day with seven catches for 103 yards. Earnest Gray had eight catches and broke the Giants' alltime season record for receptions. Nose tackle Jerome Sally was in on nine tackles and two QB sacks and the Giants' defense shackled rookie RB star Curt Warner to 62 yards on 26 attempts for a 2.4 average.

December 17 GIANTS 22, Washington 31 (53,874) At Washington

A season of frustration ended in RFK Stadium for the Giants, in a game which personified much of the season. Playing inspired defense, the Giants manhandled the NFC champions throughout most of the game, building a 19-7 lead late into the third period. Then a pair of fumbles by quarterback Jeff Rutledge gave the Redskins an easy 10 points and the lead, which they held on to in the final minutes of play. All told, the Skins were held to just 283 yards of total offense in the game, and the Giants intercepted Joe Theismann four times and sacked him six times. Rookie kicker Ali-Haji-Sheikh booted five FGs in the game, and set a new alltime NFL record for field goals in a season with 35. The Giants had a big opportunity to take a big lead in the first period when they had three interceptions, all in Redskin territory. Instead, all they could manage was a 3-0 lead on the first of the Sheikh's FGs, and the other two opportunities going south when Byron Williams fumbled it away at the Skins' 13, and a Haji-Sheikh FG attempt sailed wide. Ali booted three more FGs in the second period for a 12-7 Giants' halftime lead, and then Joe Morris, who had his best game rushing with 69 yards on 13 carries, caught a 6-yard TD pass from Rutledge for the 19-7 lead deep into the third period. The Redskins rallied at this point, but the Giants still led 22-17 into the final minutes when Rutledge fumbled after being sacked, leading to the eventual Skins' victory. All-Pro LB Lawrence Taylor had seven tackles, three QB sacks and a one-handed interception in the game, while Rutledge passed for over 300 yards for the second straight week, and rookie WR Byron Williams had another 100-plus receiving game.

1983 PRE-SEASON RECAP

August 7

GIANTS 23, Jets 16 (60,232)

At Giants Stadium

Overcoming a 9-3 Jets' halftime lead, the Giants scored 20 points in succession for a 23-9 lead, en route to their second straight pre-season victory over the Jets. Jeff Rutledge and Scott Brunner shared the QB duties in this one and combined for 21 completions for 225 yards. With Joe Danelo's 33-yard FG the only Giant points in the first half, the Giants then ran off three scores in a row, with Cliff Chatman scoring from a yard out for a 9-9 knot. Brian Carpenter's interception positioned the next TD, a 10-yard bootleg by Brunner for a 16-9 edge, and then Brunner connected for a 27-yard TD to WR Danny Pittman and the 23-9 advantage. Rutledge was 12-for 18 for 101 yards and Brunner 9-for-16 for 124 yards during the contest, with Leon Bright the leading rusher with 23 yards on three carries. Floyd Eddings had four receptions for 50 yards, while on defense, rookie LB Andy Headen had three QB sacks for 27 yards.

August 12

GIANTS 22, Pittsburgh 13 (55,281)

At Pittsburgh

The defense held the Steelers to 191 yards of total offense and rookie place-kicker Ali Haji-Sheikh booted five field goals to lead the Giants to their second straight victory. Phil Simms made his first appearance at QB in a year and looked sharp with a 10-for-15 for 118 yards and one TD pass performance. The Giants led 13-7 at halftime on a pair of Sheikh FGs from 42 and 33 yards and Simms' 11-yard TD bullet to Butch Woolfolk. The Giants then took advantage of fumble recoveries (they had six in all during the game) to set up three more Haji-Sheikh FGs in the second half to win going away. Joe Morris had 55 yards rushing on 13 carries to set the pace there, while Woolfolk and John Mistler each had three receptions. The defense shackled the Steeler's running game to just 53 yards in 28 carries and a 1.9 average. Mark Haynes had a blocked punt and Brian Kelley and rookie Terry Kinard pass interceptions.

August 20

GIANTS 27, Baltimore 14 (32,205)

At Giants Stadium

The Giants led all the way in this third straight win, and utilized all three QBs along the way. Joe Danelo's 42-yard FG started the scoring, then he added a 40-yarder in the second period for a 6-0 lead. Phil Simms then came in at QB and promptly hit John Mistler for 22 yards to set up his 5-yard TD pass to rookie John Tuggle for a 13-0 halftime lead. It was 20-7 in the third period after rookie Terry Kinard intercepted a Colt pass and returned it 31 yards to set up a Rob Carpenter one-yard TD dive. Jeff Rutledge was at the controls in the fourth period, and he threw 4-for-4 on a scoring march, and got the TD himself on a 9-yard bootleg. Butch Woolfolk had 46 yards rushing on 12 carries to set the pace there, with Mistler catching three passes for 67 yards. Rookie free agent Phil McConkey had seven punt returns for 66 yards and veteran LB Brad Van Pelt recorded a pair of QB sacks.

August 26

GIANTS 3, Miami 24 (58,732)

At Giants Stadium

After recording three straight pre-season wins, the Giants were never in this one, as the Dolphins led all the way. David Woodley's 3-yard bootleg opened the scoring for Miami, then the Dolphins marched 90 yards for another score, with David Overstreet getting that TD on a one-yard plunge. Ali Haji-Sheikh's 49-yard FG cut it to 14-3 at halftime, but Miami retaliated with 10 points in the third period to conclude the scoring. The Dolphins had five QB sacks on the Giant QBs who collectively were 23-for-44 for 206 yards, with Phil Simms the leading QB with 10-for-17 for 76 yards. Earnest Gray had five pass receptions and Johnny Perkins added four. Rookie QB Dan Marino was 9-for-12 for 87 yards for the Dolphins in relief of Woodley.

The 1984 New York Giants' Media Guide was written and edited by Ed Croke, Director of Media Services. The book has been designed to be as comprehensive as possible, but if members of the media require additional information or assistance not contained within these pages, please contact the Media Services Department. During the pre-season training camp, that contact can be made at Pace University training camp in Pleasantville, N.Y., and during the regular season at the Giants' Executive offices at Giants Stadium. For those who can be served by telecopier, the direct telecopier line at Giants Stadium is (201) 935-8493. Daily reports are also available throughout the pre-season and regular season for members of the media on the Giants' Code-A-Phone and that service at Giants' Stadium is available by calling (201) 935-7515. For members of the media requiring press accreditation, contact Tom Power, Director of Promotion, at the Giants' Executive offices.

COVER AND PHOTO CREDITS: The cover of the 1984 Giants' Media Guide was created by Frank Becerra, one of the most talented sports cartoonists and artists in the country. Becerra's work appears regularly in the Westchester-Rockland Newspapers Group of the Gannett chain where Frank serves as Art Director. As the Giants enter their 60th season in the National Football League, the cover honors five of the Giants' total of 21 members of the Pro Football Hall of Fame—the late Tim Mara, founder of the club and president from 1925-59; multi-talented Frank Gifford, All-Pro RB-WR from 1952-64; eight-time All-Pro tackle Roosevelt Brown, 1953-65; eight-time All-Pro center and linebacker Mel Hein, 1931-45; and the late Emlen Tunnell, All-Pro and NFL record setting defensive back and return specialist. The inside back cover honors rookie place-kicker Ali Haji-Sheikh who set an alltime NFL record in 1983 with 35 field goals, and is the work of photographer Jerry Pincus.
